Salary boosts by city

By HARRY BARNES

A new wage agreement between Granite City and members of the police and fire departments providing wage increases that will total 21 percent between May 1 this year and March 1982, was approved by the Granite City Council in regular meeting Tuesday night.

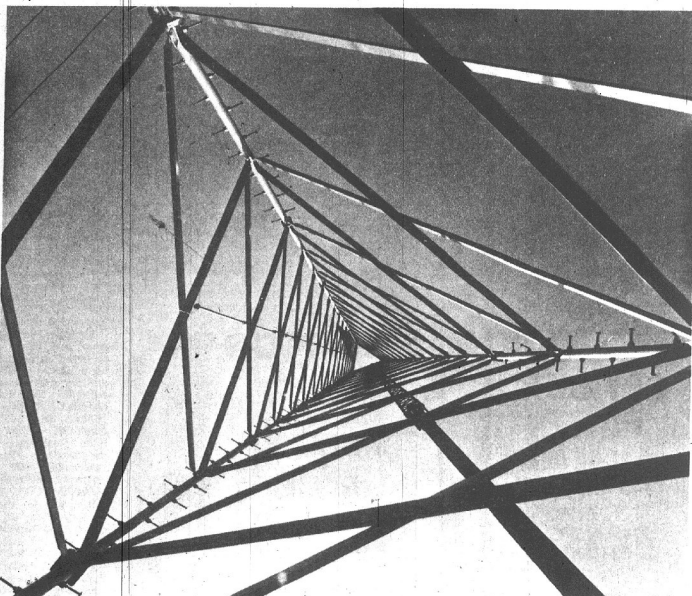

In a separate action, the aldermen also approved a salary hike of 12 percent for fire department ambulance drivers for the current 1980-81 year, plus an additional 12 percent for the 1981-82 year beginning next May 1.

Under the council's action which was recommended by Alderman Fred "Pat" Schuman, chairman of the council's negotiating committee, police and firemen will receive a pay hike of 6 percent for the current 1980-81 year, retroactive to May 1, another 9 percent increase for the 1981-82 year beginning next May 1, an additional 3 percent on Nov. 1, 1981, and another hike of 1 percent on March 1, 1982.

The 12 percent raise for ambulance drivers will be effective for the current fiscal year and will increase another 12 percent on May 1, 1981, in a two-year agreement.

In addition, the aldermen approved a contingency clause for resolving issues for which no specific guidelines are set up in the agreement for the police and firemen, and concurred in Schuman's recommendations for a shift-trading clause, a seniority clause, additional funeral leave and a clause clarifying

TAKE A GUESS. If you have already subscribed to — or plan to sign up for — cable TV here, you should have a great interest in what is in this photo. It's the 135-foot microwave receiving tower which has been erected at 1836 Delmar Ave. This peculiar view is from the bottom looking up through the three legs of the tower. TV signals will be beamed here from a 250-foot tower in Maryville after being received from a satellite via a 15-foot dish antenna at the South-Western Cable TV facilities there. Additional photos of the installation work are on Page 10 of this issue. Cable service may begin in Granite City within a week.

Settlement by union, GC Steel

By BILL WINTER

Local issues were settled by Steelworkers and Granite City Steel on Tuesday night, following the April 15 agreement on national issues in a new three-year contract that will go into effect Aug. 1.

In a joint statement, Terry Seabolt, vice-president of industrial relations at Granite City Steel, and Jim Kelahan, staff representative of the United Steelworkers of America, said GC Steel and the union's production and maintenance Local Unions — 16, 30, 67 and 68 — reached agreement late Tuesday.

The agreement covers all local issues which remained unresolved after the conclusion of the national bargaining in Pittsburgh this spring.

"It's a good package," Kelahan had said after returning here April 15 from 35 days of negotiations at Pittsburgh between the union, National Steel Corp. and eight other steelmakers. National owns Granite City Steel.

Steelworkers local union presidents from across the nation voted overwhelmingly, 333 to 42, for a new three-year contract effective in August.

Hourly pay could rise by over 40 percent if inflation averages 11 percent

Venice layoffs being planned

By MICK STRANGE

Due to a tight financial situation there is a possibility that some Venice city employees may have to be laid off in the near future, Venice Mayor Tyrone Echols told the Venice Council at its Tuesday evening meeting.

"I want to meet with our city treasurer first and take a hard look at just how much money we will receive during the current fiscal year," Echols told the council.

"Then we need to take another hard look at just what we can spend. We must realize you can not borrow yourself out of debt."

"It appears that tax money will be late again this year. Last year we had to borrow $90,000 from the bank. However, we must realize that the first $90,000 we took in last year had to be paid right back."

"Insurance costs and this ambulance service cost are getting way out of hand."

"Our utility tax income has dropped from $8,000 to $5,000 and so has other tax income dropped, such as sales tax."

"I hate to think of it, but personnel cuts are coming. Every June and July we start worrying about making the payroll."

"One thing everyone must understand is that an appropriation budget does not mean you can spend that much or will even get anywhere near that much in revenue," Echols continued.

"We have some accounts with money in them, but another thing everyone must understand is that many accounts have restrictions. For example we can not spend motor fuel tax money on salaries."

"I would appreciate any suggestions any of the council members may have on this situation," Mayor Echols said. A building permit was approved for Ronald Dotter, 1236 Klein St., to add a back porch with a block foundation of approximately cost of $1,000.

The arrest report for the month of May listed 23 total arrests and $625 collected in fines.

County costs exceeding income

Revenue and cost imbalances are sending the Madison County government in the same direction as many cities—toward increasing reliance on federal revenue sharing to balance their yearly budgets. Madison County Auditor Arthur "Pete" Fields cites income-outgo totals of $7.3 million and $7.0 million in 1977; $7.1 million and $7.4 million in 1978; and $8.5 million income and $8.7 million spending in 1979.

Shared revenue totaled $900,000 last year.

While avoiding any attempt to dictate how the county government spends its money, Fields sees it as his duty to make sure county officials and the Madison County Board are fully aware of fiscal patterns that could leave insufficient funds with which to provide services.

As a specific instance, Fields questioned Buildings Committee approval for purchase of an $1,200 artificial Christmas tree for the County Courthouse. The Finance Committee by a 4-0 vote then rejected the proposed purchase.

"We don't need to panic, but the financial situation is something we need to look at and be aware of," Fields commented this week.

"In both 1978 and 1979, the difference was made up by federal revenue sharing, a source that is in serious question for 1981. If we don't get with the money some other way, or cut expenses."

"We are going to be very low in the budget item which would have been used to pay for the tree; nearly all the money in that line item already is allocated for other expenses. They would have had to transfer from another fund to pay for it."

"It's a question of priorities. The only place we can help this deficit is in cutting expenses. Salaries are going to go up each year, regardless; there's not much we can do about that."

"But the gap between our other expenses and salaries is widening. That's something to be concerned about."

BIG YAWN for two-day-old Mary Elizabeth June discovered on the doorstep of the Hope Clinic for Women, 1602 Twenty-first St., during the weekend. A Jefferson City, Mo., woman found the baby while passing the clinic and brought her to the St. Elizabeth Medical Center. The nine pound, seven ounce baby was only an hour old when found, but was in good condition despite the unusual circumstances. Sister Mary Thomas, president of the medical center, quickly named her Mary Elizabeth and added June for the month the baby was born. She is being placed in a foster home in Granite City by the Illinois Department of Children and Family Services until the courts decide guardianship of the infant. The medical center and the state are asking that the mother come forward to avoid unnecessary court proceedings. A trust fund for the baby is being set up by Mayor Paul Schuler at the First Granite City National Bank. Holding the baby is Dolores Perry, LPN.

Social Security going up, food stamps aren't

The Social Security Administration has both good news and bad news to report this month.

First, the bad news: The cost-of-living for the first three months of 1980 was 14.3 percent higher (annual basis) than for the first three months of 1979.

Now, the good news: Over 35 million Social Security recipients will receive a 14.3 percent increase in benefits effective on their July 3 check. This 14.3 percent increase will also be added to Supplemental Security Income benefits effective July 1.

Following are examples of monthly payments before and after the raise, with July 1979 and July 1980 figures given in that order:

Maximum benefit, worker retiring at age 65 in 1980, $572.00 and $653.80.
Minimum benefit, worker retiring at age 65 in 1980, $133.90 and $153.10.

Long strike is continuing

No urgency is being voiced by Auto Workers Local 1715 leaders as the strike at the A. O. Smith Corp. auto frame plant here enters its 11th week. The company has said the future of the plant is being placed in jeopardy as time passes without contract talks. The union officers have criticized the contract offer and said the local is Food stamp recipients will get only one cost-of-food increase in the next year under a new regulation issued by the U.S. Department of Agriculture. Assistant Secretary Carol Tucker Foreman said the food stamp benefit increase usually given in July will not be given this year.

USDA will adjust food stamp benefits and deductions to account for increases in the Consumer Price Index (CPI) only once a year, in January, instead of making semi-annual updates in January and July.

"This is one of a number of program-tightening measures proposed by the Administration and approved by Congress last month," she said. "It will save $185 million in this fiscal year and $300 million in fiscal year 1981, starting Oct. 1, 1980, which will help to meet the increased cost of the food stamp program caused by unemployment and inflation."

Also under the regulations, USDA will continue to adjust the food stamps, (Continued on Page 6)

Senior club honors fathers

Father's Day was celebrated by the More-the-Merrier Senior Club in conjunction with the birthdays of members at a meeting last week in the Granite City Township Center, 2000 Delmar Ave.

Fifty-four attended the event, including a guest, Frances Howard.

President Grace Paddock presided and led the Lord's Prayer and pledge to the flag.

Geranium plants, donated by Randall Irwin, were presented to Albert Misselhorn, the oldest father present, and to Cleveland Cox, the youngest father.

Honored on their birthdays were Lester Dunning, Minnie Kuschmitz, Mary Mattingly, Maggie Collier, Jose Stoyanoff and Verna Spurrier.

Punch, tea, coffee and cake were served and the group played cards and other games.

Awarded geraniums as prizes were Lucille Pierce, Della Rabb, Alberta Eppington, Althea Collegen, Martin Schuele and Mrs. Mattingly.

Oriental Band of Ainad Stars at Peoria jamboree

Ainad Temple's Oriental Band participated in the 1980 Great Lakes Association of Oriental Bands gathering in Peoria, hosted by the Mohand Temple Shrine of that city.

Eighteen bands from the Great Lakes region attended the jamboree.

Ainad's Oriental Band placed second in its division, and was closely beaten for first place by Mocha Temple of Windsor, Canada.

Others competing in Ainad's division were Hadi Temple of Evansville, Ind.; Elf Khurach Temple of Saginaw, Mich.; and Zorah Temple of Terre Haute, Ind. Glenn Bartling of St. Louis, formerly of Granite City, is director of Ainad's Oriental Band. Howard Hampton of Airview Heights is assistant director. Elected officers of the band are: Ben Livingston of Granite City, president; William Price of Bethalto, vice-president; Art Thurston of Granite City, secretary; Carl Roach of Granite City, treasurer; and Joe Wallace of Granite City, band manager.

Other Quad-City members than those mentioned are James Allen, James Berger, Bernard Boston, James Evans, Charles McDaniels, George McDaniels, Bill Mihir Sr., Bill Oliver, Fred Recer, John Simpson, Bill Skinner, Irvin Slate Sr., Joe Sparks, Richard Staggs, Ray Isom, Russell Walker and Charles Youngs.

Orville Hommert of Granite City, captain of the guard of Ainad's 1980 officer divan, is an honorary member of the band, as are Charles Corzine, Wood River, Lyonel Fitzgerald, Wood River, and Don Farrington of Cherokee Village, Ark. The balance of the band roster consists of: Williams Cluts, Charles Funk and Ray Rogers all of Edwardsville; Glenn Felty and Art Smith, both of East St. Louis; Harold Stonecifer, Fairmont City; Harold Plumlee, Collinsville; Larry Wachtel and Art Keim, both of Belleville; Frank Walsh, O'Fallon; Vern Griggs, East Alton; Jack Stansberry and William Striegel, both of Wood River; and Jack Grissom, Hamburg, Ill. The Oriental Band is one of 39 units of the Ainad Shrine Temple. All of the units work toward a common cause—to help crippled children.

Free bus for senior citizen, ladies' contest

The Granite City Park District will sponsor another Senior Citizens and Ladies Day Trip to Busch Stadium for a Cardinal baseball game on Wednesday, July 9. The game will begin at 7:35 p.m. Buses will leave from The Anchorage homes and from Wilson Park. Tickets will cost $2.50, and the transportation is free.

Reservations must be made in person at the Wilson Park office and tickets must be paid for at the time the reservation is made. No tickets will be sold after July 10.

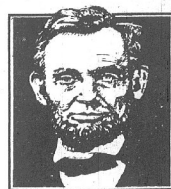

For more information, residents may call the Wilson Park office at 877-3059.

Plays recall Lincoln's era

The woods and hills where Abraham Lincoln spent his early manhood will ring with speeches, songs and stories of the American past again this summer as The Great American People Show presents its fifth season of historical drama in New Salem State Park, Petersburg, Ill.

Yon of Lincoln's portrait, A. Lincoln

The season will open on Sunday, June 22, with the company's award-winning play, "Your Obedient Servant, A. Lincoln," followed by the premiere of a new play, "Abraham Lincoln Walks at Midnight" on Wednesday, June 25.

Both plays will run through Aug. 23. The company performs on a multi-level stage in the Kelso Hollow Theater at the edge of the reconstructed New Salem Village.

The stage was built in 1976 for the production of "Your Obedient Servant, A. Lincoln," in celebration of the national Bicentennial.

The play, written by John Ahart and the company, was received enthusiastically by historians, theatre critics, and players as a uniquely authentic and moving account of Lincoln's life.

The Illinois General Assembly named it the official Bicentennial play of the state, and critics called it "stunning" and "not just another Lincoln play, but an experience."

Visitors to the Lincoln country from all over the world have flocked to see the play over the four seasons it has been repeated.

With "Abraham Lincoln Walks at Midnight," the company turns to another part of the rich history of the area, the lives of Edgar Lee Masters, Vachel Lindsay and Carl Sandburg.

The three poets grew up in Petersburg, Springfield and Galesburg in the years following the Civil War.

Playwright James Hurt has adopted the unique style of the company to place the lives of the poets against the history of the country from the end of the Civil War to the outbreak of World War I.

Both plays use the versatile actors of the company to weave together drama, poetry and music in an evocation of history.

Together, the two plays seek to constitute a panoramic dramatic view of American history over a full century, from the birth of Lincoln to the First World War.

"Your Obedient Servant, A. Lincoln" will be performed on Tuesdays, Thursdays, Saturdays and Sundays through July and August.

Nephew, uncle new fathers within hour

A former Granite City man and his uncle, also formerly of Granite City, became the fathers of newly-born daughters within a period of only 57 minutes on Friday, June 13. Parents of both fathers now live in Granite City.

Family members reported that a six-pound, 14-ounce baby girl was born at 11:03 a.m. in Oliver C. Anderson Hospital at Maryville to Mr. and Mrs. Michael Sweeney of Edwardsville. The infant has been named Melissa Ann.

The baby's arrival came 57 minutes after the birth of a daughter in a St. Louis Hospital at 10:06 a.m. to Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Miles of St. Louis. She weighed eight pounds, six ounces and has been named Tammy Lynn.

Michael Sweeney is the son of Mrs. Linda Rensing, 38 Snowbird Lane, who also is the sister of Bruce Miles.

ART FORM OVER 3,000 YEARS
OLD. The Taiko Drummers will kick off the 1980 Japanese Festival June 21 through 29 at the Missouri Botanical Garden, 2101 Tower Grove Ave. The Drummers, based in San Francisco, will be performing on the first two days of the festival Saturday and Sunday, June 21 and 22. Taiko drumming is a Japanese art form which, according to legend, was born at a Shinto shrine on the shore of Lake Suwa in central Japan. Other traditional and contemporary expressions of Japanese life will be part of the festival, sponsored by the Japan America Society and the Japanese American Citizens League.

Wilson earns master's

Madison County Deputy Sheriff Harold Wilson Sr., 37, has received his master's degree in education with emphasis in counseling.

Wilson is the first black deputy and the third deputy to hold a master's degree with the sheriff's department.

Major Fred Bright and Ewin Knezevich also hold master's degrees.

Wilson has his bachelor's degree in administration of justice from McKendree College and an associate degree in law enforcement from Belleville Area College.

Wilson, his wife Lois and three children live in Madison.

He graduated from Lovejoy High School at Brooklyn.

Wilson is a student at the Brook's Bible Institute in St. Louis. He is an associate minister and member of the board of the New Hope Fellowship in Edwardsville.

"I have always liked learning about new things and so I have always been studying something," Wilson said.

"I always wanted to be a police officer and had a desire to help people."

"Being a minister and a police officer really go together. Both are helping others who are in need. Besides, we need to know and obey God's law as well as man's law."

"It takes a lot of sacrifice sometime to get an education. I am grateful for the support I received from my family."

"A police officer has to be a little of everything to everybody; a counselor, a protector, a symbol of right. Today's officers are forced to make on the spot decisions in dealing with people."

"These decisions could influence a person for life. It is a responsibility we can not take lightly."

"Today's policeman and the police of the future must be mobil, flexible and knowledgeable."

"The Madison County Sheriff's department encourages deputies to continue their education and the future must be a black stick."

The man had driven up to the Granite City address earlier and had spoken with Castro. He then left, but returned a short time after when the alleged attack took place, the witnesses said.

Brigas surrendered to Venice officers who escorted him to police headquarters in Granite City. He was released after paying a $35 cash bond.

Castro was taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Medical Center suffering a cut to the top of his head. He had sutures taken in the wound and was released.

DISORDERLY CHARGE
 Terry Colp, 28, of 4401 Kirkpatrick Homes, was arrested and charged with disorderly conduct Monday, after police were called to the home by his parents who said he was creating a disturbance. The man ran outside and allegedly refused to cooperate before the arrest was made.

Taco Bell symbol gone

The large bell which was suspended from the arch on top of the Taco Bell Restaurant, 3681 Nameoki Road, was stolen this week.

Police said a janitor at a nearby business saw two men climb on the restaurant roof and remove the bell. The theft was reported at 11 a.m. Monday.

One thief was described as five feet, 10 inches tall, weighing 180 pounds with short blond hair. The second man was about the same height, weighed 165 pounds and had brown hair.

Diane Abbott, assistant manager of the restaurant, said the bell was made of fiberglass and painted an antique gold.

"From the ground, the bell looked as if it was metal and maybe they thought it was valuable," she said.

Miss Abbott added the thieves were in for a disappointment as the bell was actually worth about $40.

Man walks in, makes threats
 Mr. and Mrs. David Horton, 2138 1/2 State St., reported this week that a man tore the screen in a door and walked into their home uninvited.

The intruder used profane language and made threats against a woman who was not in the apartment at the time, the Hortons said.

He was described as five feet, 10 inches tall, medium build with brown hair, wearing jeans and no shirt.

The man left saying he was going to get a gun and return, police were told.

County offices announce moves
 The Madison County Building and Zoning Department has completed relocation of its offices from the basement of the County Courthouse to the fifth floor of the old bank building, at 103 Purcell, Room 500.

The office hours and telephone numbers are still the same.

Those who wish to make application for a building permit are to stop first at the courthouse to secure a copy of the deed from the recorder of deeds office on the first floor.

In addition to this, if they need to check the size of lot or are making application for a zoning hearing, they must stop at the Maps and Plats Department to secure the quarter section print for this request.

Within the next few weeks, the Maps and Plats Department will be moving to the lower level of the old bank building and will no longer be in the courthouse.

Special speaker at Lion ribbon cutting

Miss Laura Oftehdahl will be the guest speaker for the Pontoon Beach Lions Den II ribbon cutting at 6:30 p.m. today.

She is the field service representative of the Lions of Illinois Foundation and is blind.

She will be accompanied by her leader dog Casey.

As a field representative, Miss Oftehdahl travels the state disseminating information to Lions Clubs and others about the special services coordinated by or administered by the Lion Foundation on behalf of the local clubs.

She also works directly with blind people as an "ambassador" to help them over hurdles and to cut red tape with a variety of public and private agencies.

She is described by local Lions as a perfect example of the statement that blind people can do anything sighted people can do, except see.

She was a B student at the University of Illinois from which she graduated in 1974 with a degree in radio-television.

She has worked as a disc jockey and announcer with radio stations in Florida and Wisconsin.

Lioness club members are invited to hear her and join in the ribbon cutting ceremonies, according to Don Patrick, club secretary.

Aerobic Exercise session planned

The second five-week session of Aerobic Exercise to Disco Music will begin June 23 at Illinois Business and Technical School. Classes meet from 6 to 7 p.m. every Monday and Wednesday at the school's studio at 2100 Edison Ave. Enrollment is open to any persons interested in strenuous exercise performed in an enjoyable setting, a spokesman said.

Foundries club topic

Hugh Rogers, vice-president of Midvale Mining and Manufacturing Co., addressed Granite City Rotarians on Tuesday and showed a film, "Cast a Giant Shadow."

Rogers, chairman of the Greater St. Louis Chapter, American Foundrymen's Society, noted that foundries are the fifth largest category of manufacturing in the United States. There are 450,000 employees.

Program chairman was William Donovan, works manager of the American Steel Foundries in Granite City.

DISTURBANCE CALL. Called to the 2800 block of W. 22nd Street where a disturbance was reported Monday, police arrested Julius D. Keath, 18, of 1324 Carr St., who allegedly was running in the street yelling obscene language and refusing to leave the area.

Employees of the A.O. Smith Corp. auto frame plant in Granite City were told by a letter dated Tuesday, June 17, that the plant is losing part of its 1981 model orders and may permanently lose station wagon business. The plant has been shut down by a strike since April 8.

Plant Manager Paul H. Kelly wrote, "Regrettably, the strike by UAW Local 1715 has completed its tenth week and there seems to be no end in sight."

"We have informed your union officials that this unfortunate situation has and will force us to release to our competitor 1981 sedan shipping requirements on the following timetable:

"We have already been forced to relinquish all 1981 sedan shipments through Aug. 15, 1980."

"If the strike is not settled by July 1, 1980, we will be forced to give up all sedan shipments through Sept. 5, 1980.

"If the strike is not settled by July 21, we will be forced to give up all sedan shipments through Sept. 26, 1980. "The effects of the release of this business to our competition will result in a delay in the recall of employees following the end of the strike."

"It will no doubt also result in a lower level of operation, probably one line, when we do resume production."

"As we pointed out in a previous letter, if the strike were settled promptly, and you were not recalled, you would be eligible to receive unemployment compensation benefits as high as $177 per week. Obviously, your strike benefits are a poor substitute."

"We are trying to hold onto the 1981 station wagon business. Our customer does not feel secure with the fact that the strike is continuing, and is considering removing their tools from our plant and placing them in our competitor's plant."

"We felt it important to inform you of these factual developments which greatly affect you and your families."

Bond sales again for community building

Now that the unusually high interest rates of recent months are decreasing, bond sales are being resumed by the Community Heights Assembly of God Church, Faith and Buxton avenues.

The Rev. Jeffrey R. Smith, pastor, said today it is planned to resume work on a new community building located at Faith and Marshall avenues. Jack August Gockel of Staunton is architect and manager of the project, where a steel framework has been erected.

Electric, heating and air-conditioning contracts have not yet been awarded. Firms interested in bidding are to contact Rev. Smith or Gockel now, and submit their bids by June 30.

Total cost of the structure is estimated at $170,000, and Meanwhile, attempts will continue through federal mediation to reach a settlement of the strike in an effort to save this plant and the jobs of all of us," Kelly concluded.

A $125,000 bond issue has been authorized, with $91,500 sold before it was decided to delay the construction due to the interest cost rise.

Remaining bonds are now available, with interest retroactive to Jan. 1, 1979. Denominations are $250, $500 and $1,000.

Bonds of 5½ to 10 years bear interest of 9 percent, and bonds of 10½ to 14½ years have interest of 9½ percent.

All work on the building is being done through hiring of craft union members. The structure is expected to cost less than $20 a square foot. There will be a grade school size gymnasium and a full kitchen with banquet facilities. The full basement will include educational rooms.

Allman band Sunday night

The Allman Brothers Band will bring Southern blues rock to the Mississippi River Festival on the campus of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville on Sunday, June 22, at 6:30 p.m., the opening night of the 1980 summer season. Special guest Hank Williams Jr. will also entertain.

The Allman Brothers Band was formed in 1969 with Gregg and Duane Allman leading the group. The group produced three albums in the next three years — The Allman Brothers Band (1969), Idlewild South (1970) and The Allman Brothers Band at Fillmore East (1971).

In October 1971, Duane Allman was killed in a motorcycle accident on a Macon street at the age of 24. The other members of the band went their separate ways for a short time after Duane's death, but then got together again.

Tragedy again struck the Allman Brothers when bass player Berry Oakley was fatally injured in a motorcycle accident one year after Duane's death. Again, there was no question but that the group would carry on. Lamar Williams joined the group on bass guitar. Reserved seats Sunday will be $9.50. Lawn tickets are $7.

Christian musical at Nameoki church

A Christian Musical will be presented Sunday, June 22, at Nameoki United Methodist Church, Primrose Avenue and Pontoon Road, by "Encounter," a 52-member youth group from the Main Street United Methodist Church of Alton.

The is the group's eighth annual musical and it will begin at 7:30 p.m., according to the host minister, the Rev. Eugene Seamann.

Rev. Seamann added a free will offering will be taken and refreshments will be served in the fellowship hall.

Pastors of the Alton church are the Rev. Bill Fester and the Rev. John Read.

Township sewer connection may face new delay

Brewer noted that the city enacted a new rate schedule raising sewer treatment fees from $6 to $13 per quarter for Granite City residents and establishing a $10 quarterly surcharge for non-residents. This would result in a $23 quarterly treatment fee for residents of the Venice-Nameoki-Chouteau township areas in which the new sanitary sewers have been installed.

Brewer said that township officials generally disagreed with the schedule, but that nothing has been done in recent months to clarify or resolve the issue.

While the sewer installation original was scheduled June 1, the Special Sewer District No. 1 obtained a 60-day extension for completion of the work by Aug. 1.

The Chamber committee also was told by Walter "Shang" Greathouse of Granite City, a member of the Metro-East Sanitary District, that district attorneys are to meet Friday with representatives of the SCA Services in an attempt to work out a settlement of damages incurred by the removal of a large amount of dirt fill in the levee along the Cahokia Canal east of Route 203 between Horseshoe Lake and Interstate 70-53.

Greathouse said the dirt removal involved 63,102 cubic yards of dirt at a cost of $10 per cubic yard. He said total damages, including seeding, landscaping and grading of $26,500 also have been fixed by an engineering survey.

Also discussed was a report that the Illinois Department of Transportation has told farmers along the right-of-way of the Route 203 highway between Collinsville and Mitchell that drainage would be accommodated by lift stations rather than stormwater lines. DOT officials had told sanitary district officials that lift stations could not be used.

Connection of township sanitary sewer lines with the Granite City treatment system in August may face a delay resulting from lack of a final rate agreement between the special sewer district and Granite City officials, it was disclosed during a meeting of the Sewer and Drainage Committee of the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce Monday afternoon.

The fact that township officials have not resolved their disagreement with a rate schedule enacted by the Granite City council late last year, and that sewer connections are unlikely before such an agreement is approved by the City Council was announced by City Engineer Monroe Brewer.

NEW OFFICE OPENS. A ribbon is cut Tuesday afternoon opening the new practice of Dr. N. Lake Park at standstill

By VALERIE EVENEDEN
of the Press-Record

"We stand ready and willing to help the state, Department of Conservation in any way we can to get the Horseshoe Lake State Park project going again," William F. Nichols, chairman of the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce's Horseshoe Lake Committee, said at a meeting Monday in the Chamber office.

"We can help in liaison work and with input on local problems and we know better than the people up in Springfield what those problems are," Nichols stated.

He said the committee was organized about a year ago and has offered its resources and services to the Conservation Department, but so far has not been asked to provide any input.

"There is nothing scheduled in the near future to acquire the remaining property. There is nothing, according to the director," the chairman said.

The state started purchasing land in the Horseshoe Lake area in 1970 on a piecemeal basis. The last purchase was made about two years ago, Nichols explained.

Horseshoe Lake State Park eventually will encompass 2,200 acres.

According to figures available in a 1978 survey, a total of 1,922 acres was under state ownership that year, including 1,200 in land and acreage and 672 in water.

"By the plans I have checked, I'd be more inclined to say the park is 1,500 acres," Nichols commented.

Most of the funds available to the Department of Conservation appear to be going to purchase raw land for the Cahokia Mounds project, he added.

Five owners of large parcels of land in the Bend Road area of the lake have not been contacted by the state.

"So, despite what anyone might say, it isn't the private land owners who are holding up the project," Nichols stated.

He said the state dealt with about 200 families owning property in the lake area and finally ran out of money. Problems arising in the region already designated as state property were discussed.

The Conservation Department has refused to maintain roads in the lake area, citing lack of funds, Nichols said.

Nameoki Township Road Commissioner Frank Mehelec also has declined responsibility for maintaining the roads for the last two years, Nichols alleged.

Nameoki Township previously provided road maintenance service.

Nichols said Quality Sand Co., a firm in business on Layton Road, is paying about 50 percent of the cost in labor and use of a road grader.

None of the past few years on the roads, Nichols said, noting that he owned about one third of the road.

He said Granite City Steel, which also owned about one third of the road, "can't be held responsible. They don't use the road anyway," he added.

He said the state has spent in excess of $5 million in ground purchase and development, including a causeway to Walker's Island.

"There is no delineation of lines between state-owned property and private land and the state so far has refused to post adequate signs, the committee was told.

There seems to be little cohesive planning between the sheriff's department and the park personnel, Nichols said, noting that park rangers reportedly tell individuals they can fish in certain locations and deputies "run them off."

Vandalism has caused some problems and a night watchman was hired by the state.

The first night on the job someone got in and stole gasoline from all the Department of Conservation trucks, Nichols said.

He said the key to preventing vandalism on the north shore of the lake is to close a road in that area. However, businesses still are located there and, at this point, this is not feasible.

"I've the feeling they've gone about as far as they intend to at the present time," Nichols said, speaking of the state agency.

"The Tri-Cities Chamber of Commerce intends to continue its quest to make Horseshoe Lake into a state park with completion of the entire complex," the committee chairman emphasized.

He said the water level of the lake is stabilized, despite the area being five inches short in rainfall, and there had been no fish kill reported in the lake this year.

Rivalries said to impede ports

Users and operators of port facilities rank St. Louis next to last among cities with successful port operations.

Political squabbling is perceived as the most important roadblock to development of the Port of Metropolitan St. Louis, including the Tri-City Port.

These were among the results of a survey taken of area businessmen who attended an economic development seminar. The meeting was attended by more than 250 individuals.

Responding to the question "How important are each of the following roadblocks to port development?"—90 percent indicated that political disputes were either very important or somewhat important.

Seventy-eight percent said lack of business leadership was a very important or somewhat important roadblock, and 75 percent named labor problems as the major difficulty.

When asked to rank the following St. Louis cities in terms of the success of their port development efforts, area businessmen chose Memphis, Tenn., as the most successful, followed by New Orleans, Pittsburgh, St. Louis and Cincinnati.

None of the forum participants indicated a belief that development of the port was progressing at the proper speed; 85 percent said development should be a high priority.

Respondents noted that harbor improvements were very or somewhat important components of port development (92 percent), followed closely by railroad modernization and development of water-related industrial sites (each 91 percent).

"How important are each of the following strategies for port development?"—74 percent indicated marketing the port's strength and providing stronger, more coordinated leadership, as important strategies.

Art Guild hears Tom O'Laughlin

Tom O'Laughlin of Troy, Ill., was the featured speaker at a meeting Tuesday night of the Granite City Art Guild held at Central Christian Church, 2020 Johnson Road.

He is art director of MacPlyer, a flight safety magazine of the Military Air Lift Command at Scott Air Force Base.

The guest speaker gave a talk on how a magazine is prepared from the beginning stages to the finished product.

In membership art competition a first place award was won to Mrs. Yvonne Ellis and Mrs. Lillian Drenz received a second place honor.

Mrs. Eva Meadows, president, announced a one-day workshop will be held from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Saturday, June 21 at the church with Professor Emeritus Walter Johnson in charge.

vacation priority rights for the police department only.

Approval of the terms was voted unanimously after Schuman explained that his negotiating committee, which includes Aldermen Warren Decatur and Paul Fisk as members, does not plan to grant any additional fringe benefits that involve cost items.

The contingency clause in that part of the new agreement approved Tuesday night for police and firemen provides for negotiations between the city and the employees "to make any mutually acceptable adjustments" of any contingent issue not otherwise covered by terms of the agreement.

The shift-trading agreement which applies only to the police department permits changes in shifts by mutual agreement, subject to approval by the officer in charge or the captain.

Under the seniority clause "an employee being reassigned or returning from another assignment will be permitted to exercise his seniority for the shift of his choice. Time in rank governs seniority."

The addition to funeral leave provides time off for the death of grandparents and grandchildren of the employee and his spouse. Funeral leave for grandchildren and grandparents had not been included in previous agreements.

The new pact also provides that "times of vacation periods shall be awarded according to seniority for time of service. Employees shall select vacation periods during each calendar year, beginning Jan. 1 of each year.

Schuman said that the terms accepted by the council had been approved in negotiation sessions with representatives of the police, firemen and ambulance drivers.

Further meetings have been scheduled within the next week with representatives of the teamster and laborer employees of the street department and employees of the sewage treatment plant, Schuman said.

The source of funds to meet rising wage costs has been of considerable concern to city officials who have noted that late tax collections this year and a potential reduction in federal revenue sharing funds may make it difficult to meet additional wage commitments.

guideline for food stamp income limits will mean that 650,000 fewer people will receive food stamps in fiscal year 1981 and several million fewer persons will be eligible for food stamps.

This change is expected to save $15 million in the current fiscal year 1981 and $65 million in fiscal year 1982.

On July 1, the monthly net income limits which poor families must meet to qualify for food stamps will rise from $50 to $62 for a family of four.

The new maximum net monthly income for the continental United States, Guam, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands for households of various sizes will be as follows:

One-person household, $18. Two-person household, $18. Three-person household, $20. Four-person household, $22. Five-person household, $24. Six-person household, $26. Seven-person household, $28. Eight-person household, $30. For each additional member over eight, add $102 per month.

Senior to see ISU

More than 1,200 prospective students and their parents are expected to visit Illinois State University (Normal-Bloomington) this summer for "A Look at ISU," an introductory program conducted by the Office of Admissions and Records.

Two open house sessions are scheduled, on Friday, June 27, and Friday, July 18. The programs are open to all high school students who will be seniors in the fall, along with their parents and friends.

A highlight of the program will be the clustering of nearly 50 academic departments into seven related interest groups to explore career possibilities in their fields. There will be an opportunity to take a closeup look at various academic departments, and to speak with faculty members regarding specific interest areas.

The open house program will begin at 9:30 a.m. each day at the University Union auditorium with information on admissions, housing and financial aids, and an overview of the day's activities.

A walking tour of the campus will begin at 10:45 a.m. and lunch for $2.95 per person will be at Peeney Center. A multi-image slide show on ISU will be presented at 1 p.m. at the Media Services ballroom.

Parker Lawlis, director of placement, will discuss career opportunities for the 1980s before the 2 p.m. career cluster sessions in various classrooms around the campus.

Optional on the program is a view of Normal and Bloomington from the 18th floor lounge of Hewitt Hall at 3:15 p.m.

Advance registration for either date is suggested, and may be made by Illinoisians by calling John Hansen, toll-free, at 800-522-5314.

JOINT INSTALLATION

The Madison-Venice Rotary Club and the Madison Lions Club will hold a joint installation of officer at 6:30 p.m. today at the Sunset Hills Country Club. William Washburn will be installed as the new Madison Lions president and Frank Kierski the M-V Rotary president. Retiring presidents are Lion John Bellcoff and Rotarian Jack Lee.

New road on campus

A new road which connects Circle Drive and Bluff Road on the campus of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville will be formally dedicated at noon Thursday, June 26, when representatives of the university and various groups involved in the project gather for ceremonies at the University Center.

Named the Whiteside Roadway, the connecting road is located on land which was homesteaded by William B. Whiteside before 1800.

The university used a narrow farm lane across the property from the time it was acquired in 1965 until the new road was completed this year.

The 24-foot-wide roadway is the product of a training program under the direction of the area Joint Apprenticeship and Training Committee (JATC), with representation from Local 530 of the International Union of Operating Engineers (IUOE), the Southern Illinois Builders Association (SIBA) and the Southern Illinois Contractors Association (SICA).

More than 2,000 feet long, the road conforms to Illinois Department of Transportation (IDOT) specifications, with District Eight personnel providing design and engineering assistance.

Funding for the project came from various sources, including all the groups named above, the Comprehensive Employment Training Act and the Manpower Development Training Act.

Michael P. Keeley, Jr., president of SICA, will be keynote speaker at the dedication ceremonies.

Harold Monroney, IDOT director of highways, will be the master of ceremonies, and program participants will include Earl Lazerson, acting president of SIUE; John D. Kramer, Illinois secretary of transportation; Jerry Wray Sr., business manager of Local 530, IUOE; and the Rev. Joe Santee, campus minister.

Other representatives of state and federal agencies, legislators and university administrators have been invited to attend the ceremonies and tour various JATC training sites, on campus, including a parking area for the Outdoor Performing Arts Facility, and the Madison County bicycle trail.

Venice work in state road plan

A $1 million project of draining and paving along Illinois Route Three in Venice is part of the $985 million state highway and bridge program announced Tuesday in Springfield.

Also listed is $915,000 for traffic signals, reconstruction and land acquisition on Old Collinsville Road at Route 157, Collinsville.

The state proposes to allocate $65 million toward completing Interstate 270 from Collinsville south to the Jefferson Barracks Bridge.

More than $4 million is to be spent improving railroad-highway crossings in Madison County.

At a cost of $1,400,000, Route 157 is to be widened and resurfaced from I-270 to I-55.

And it is planned to spend $10 million to continue construction of the U. S. 50 freeway which will connect East St. Louis with Vincennes, Ind.

The overall program includes $662 million in projected federal revenue that may be cut almost in half, judging by current Congressional discussions. Such a reduction might further delay the progress on I-270, which is to be made into a wholly-connected circle around the bi-state metropolitan area.

Gov. James R. Thompson has said that the present seven cents a gallon state fuel tax may need to be increased to a ten percent level, due to lower use of gasoline and higher road maintenance and construction costs.

Park district trips to Muncy

The first trip to the St. Louis Muncy Opera, sponsored by the Granite City Park District on Tuesday, June 24, is completely sold out, district officers said this week.

The show is "South Pacific," starring Florence Henderson.

Only four tickets are sold, however, for the second Muncy trip on Tuesday, July 1, to see The Debbie Reynolds Show.

Eight other show outings are scheduled during the Muncy Opera's 1980 season. Information may be obtained by calling 877-3059.

Tires worth $5,240 stolen

Tires valued at $5,240 were stolen in a burglary at Fleet Services, Inc., 2165 Madison Ave., reported at 12:50 p.m. Monday by Ron Blumenfeld.

The thieves pried a hump from a metal shed, located on the south side of the building, to get the tires which were mounted on wheels and belonged to customers of the firm, police were told.

The loot included 13 steering and radial tires, size 160x220, three tires, size 900x20 and 1 tire, size 1100x20.

County adopts cable TV law

The Madison County Board yesterday adopted a cable television franchise law to regulate cable firms serving unincorporated areas.

James Heil, Legislative Committee chairman, said the law is needed to assure that cable companies are responsive to the public's needs and wishes.

Such firms are to pay a one-time, $2,000 franchise fee and an annual amount equal to three percent of their gross revenues in the county.

Existing departments will license and monitor the cable television firms.

South-Western, whose franchises include Granite City, Collinsville and Edwardsville, hopes to serve Nameoki and Chouteau townships as well as other areas adjacent to the cities it serves.

Jones Intercable, in the Alton area, wants to serve contiguous areas there.

In other business yesterday, the County Board voted to put the 11-year-old former county jail up for bids for sale or demolition.

Some have urged preservation of parts of the building, although board members have shown reluctance to do so if tax funds would be required.

Member Donald McLean succeeded in amending the sale plan to allow the former sheriff residence and original jail cells to be bid separately from the jail addition. No one has voiced objection to tearing down the addition.

A new county jail was occupied this spring.

ERA fails by 5 votes

The proposed Equal Rights Amendment bill was defeated in the Illinois House Wednesday—five votes short of passage.

The highly controversial measure which packed the legislative chamber with pro and anti-ERA backers for the show-down vote was defeated by a vote of 102 in favor and 71 against, five short of the three-fifths majority required.

It was the eighth unsuccessful attempt at ratification in the House.

Backers of the amendment said they may try to bring the bill to another vote before the legislature adjourns June 30. This year's efforts to gain ratification were beset with pressures from the White House and the state Capitol.

The House action brought from Governor James R. Thompson, an ERA supporter, the comment that "I am embarrassed for me and I am embarrassed for the state."

He said defeat of the bill "is a disappointing thing." The governor said another vote should be given the measure, but did not say whether he believes it should come up again in this session of the legislature.

Eleanor Smelt, president of the National Organization for Women, blamed the defeat on "business interests and some members of the Republican Party."

House members considered to be wavering were the subject of telephone lobbying with calls from Washington, Chicago and Springfield throughout the day prior to the vote. President Carter, his wife Rosalynn and Vice-President Walter F. Mondale were among the callers.

The effort to ratify the bill failed this year for the first time since 1977. The amendment fell two votes short in 1978, the last time the bill was voted on in the House. ERA was approved once in the House in 1975, but was not approved by the Senate in the same year.

The amendment needs to be ratified in three more states before it becomes part of the U.S. Constitution. Ratification has been rescinded by five states who approved it earlier, but their action has been challenged and the issue still is in the court.

Burglary at Pete & Mary's

Burglars ransacked the bar area at Pete & Mary's Tavern, 2409 Lincoln Ave., it was discovered at 3 a.m. Wednesday, but probably got only $7 in change from two cash registers.

An inventory was being taken to determine what else may be missing.

Entry was gained by kicking in the lower panels on a rear door.

The contents of cabinets and drawers behind the bar were scattered on the floor and freezer doors were open.

An investigation is continuing.

College president to leave position

Dr. William R. Keel on July 1 will leave the presidency of Belleville Area College, whose boundaries include the Quad-Cities.

He told the Board of Trustees last night that differences with the board on management and operational philosophies prompted him to resign.

His contract runs until June 1981, and during the next year he will serve as a consultant to the board and also return to teaching in the BAC chemistry department.

Board Chairman Robert Doleman said the board will appoint an acting president before July 1 and will name a candidate to begin a search for a permanent president.

President for six years, Dr. Keel and the board are said to have developed mutual dissatisfaction in recent months. BAC utilized a citizen committee this spring to study ways to keep revenue and costs in balance.

The departing president recalled that in his 19 years at BAC he has seen it grow from an appendage of a high school to a comprehensive community college enrolling 11,500.

SLITS CAR TIRES
Richard Domitrovich, 1623 Maple St., said a vandal slit all four tires on his 1973 auto, causing $400 worth of damage, while the vehicle was parked at 14th and Martin streets.

Settlement

Kelahan, head of the union bargaining team, commented today, "Our bargaining committee had to keep in mind the opportunities for our members over the long haul."

"In concluding our bargaining with Granite City Steel on local issues, we feel we have made definite gains for our members without impairing the competitive ability of the company."

Seabolt said today, "In my judgment, the timely resolution of these negotiations is beneficial to Granite City Steel and all of its employees."

"We are in the position now of being able to satisfy our customers' requirements on a continuing basis."

"I feel that, through our discussions in these negotiations, the parties have become more acutely aware of the many problems that exist — and that labor and management must work together toward the goal of improving the overall performance and profitability of the division."

The overall contract includes economic and benefit improvements contained in the basic steel settlement reached in Pittsburgh between the union and the nine steelmakers, including National Steel, parent company of Granite City Steel since 1971.

The new contract runs through July 31, 1983.

Seabolt also announced that earlier agreement was reached on local issues with United Steelworkers Local 4063, representing the steelworks plant guards here.

Because of the steel industry's financial difficulties and the steel competition, no change was made at Pittsburgh in the pattern of quarterly cost-of-living adjustments — one cent hourly for every 0.3 point increase in the consumer price index.

There had been talk of a third-year change to 0.26 in the CPI formula.

The union agreed to forego a cost-of-living adjustment due last month, instead applying that money to finance higher pensions for retired workers.

It was decided at Pittsburgh today consideration of whether to renew the Experimental Negotiating Agreement (ENA) under which assured pay hikes are exchanged for a no-strike promise.

If the ENA is to be used in its present form or a modified form for the 1983 talks, the local union presidents will need to vote on its ratification.

The negotiators agreed to set up another experimental program, however, in which plant managers and USW locals voluntarily agree to explore ways of improving productivity and workplace standards.

Aided by a participation committee, the USW members and plant managers will discuss health and safety standards, possible changes in incentive pay plans or bonuses, quality control, absenteeism and other subjects.

With ENA in effect for the 1980 talks, there could have been no nationwide strike, but local issues could have shut down individual plants.

Thanks to Tuesday night's settlement, there is no longer any prospect of a work stoppage here.

Due to reduced orders for steel, associated with the 1980 recession, about 900 of the present USW steelworkers are laid off, with 3,700 employed. The figure fluctuates to some extent each week.

Couple, $312.80 and $351.00.

The Social Security law now contains an inflation provision. Recipients are guaranteed annual raises dependent on the amount of increase in the cost-of-living.

Social Security benefits have increased a total of 115.25 percent since January 1970.

Long strike

seven-week-old strike by Operating Engineers Local 118 in Missouri against the Associated General Contractors may threaten construction of a new $50 million assembly plant in Wentzville.

General Motors says it cannot move equipment onto the site until the strike is settled. A 26-month construction schedule has been projected, and it is hoped to start producing cars in the 3 million square foot plant in mid-1982. The Missouri strike began May 1. The strike at A. O. Smith started April 8.

11% of homes built in 1970s

About 11 percent of housing units in this metropolitan area (87,100 of 822,400) were built between 1970 and 1976, according to a report jointly released by the Bureau of the Census, U.S. Department of Commerce and Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD).

The report is one in a series which presents in-depth housing information for selected Standard Metropolitan Statistical Areas (SMSAs). The data were collected as part of the annual housing survey by the Census Bureau for HUD.

New construction in the central city accounted for 2,600 units, or 1.3 percent, while in the suburbs, 84,500 units have been built since 1970, or 13.7 percent of the grand total of existing homes.

Changes in the St. Louis SMSA between 1970 and 1976 included the following:

—During the 6½-year period, the metropolitan area had a net gain of 36,900 units.

—The median value of owner-occupied one-family homes rose 67 percent, from $16,300 to $27,300.

This was led by a 69 percent gain in the suburbs, from $17,000 to $28,000, while central city values went up 38 percent, from $13,300 to $18,400.

—Median income of homeowners in the metropolitan area increased by about 46 percent, from $10,900 to $15,900.

Suburban incomes increased by about the same percentage as the metropolitan area as a whole, from $11,400 to $16,700, while the median income for central city homeowners in 1976 was $11,000, up 31 percent over the 1970 median, $8,400.

—The median monthly gross rent (including utilities) advanced from $105 to $153, or 46 percent, in the metropolitan area.

Inside the city of St. Louis the increase was 30 percent from $90 to $117, while in the suburbs and the median gross rent in 1976 was $176, or 30 percent higher than the 1970 median, $128.

—For the SMSA, the median income of renters rose from $6,500 to $8,400, or 29 percent. Median income of renters in the central city was $6,300, about 17 percent higher than in 1970; among renters in the suburbs, median income advanced 29 percent to $9,900 in 1976.

Additional results from the survey included the following:

—About 16 percent of metro area households moved into their present residence in the 12 months prior to the survey. Renters were nearly five times as likely as homeowners to move.

—About 85 percent of suburban households and 67 percent of central city dwellers rated their housing units as good or excellent.

—Eighty-five percent of owner-occupied households felt they lived in good or excellent neighborhoods, compared to 67 percent of renter-occupied households.

—The most frequently cited undesirable neighborhood condition was street noise, reported by 39 percent of households, followed by heavy traffic, 32 percent, and crime, 24 percent.

—Public transportation headed the list of public services cited as inadequate by suburban households (37 percent), while shopping facilities were cited by 24 percent of central city households as being inadequate.

—Utility gas was the most commonly used heating fuel, used by 78 percent of households, with electricity used by seven percent. Blacks occupied 121,300 housing units in 1976. The median value of black owner-occupied homes increased from $11,100 to $17,100, up 54 percent; the median income of black homeowners rose from $7,700 to $11,000.

Sixty metropolitan areas are covered in this series of reports. The St. Louis SMSA was one of 20 surveyed during the period April 1976 to March 1977. The report contains tables detailing the physical and financial characteristics of housing units, and characteristics of the households which occupy them.

Chouteau budget $151,595

A new Chouteau Township budget totaling $151,595, a reduction of $29,929 below last year's total appropriation of $179,523, was approved by the Chouteau Town Board in a meeting Monday night.

Action on the budget followed a 7 p.m. public hearing in which no changes were made in the tentative budget announced a month ago.

The board approved projected expenditures of $77,095 in the town fund account, $37,200 in the general assistance fund and $37,300 in the federal revenue sharing. There is no 1980-81 budget for anti-recession funds as those allocated were discontinued last year.

The major reductions were made in the general assistance account which is $10,100 less than last year's $47,300 budget, and in the revenue sharing budget which is $15,028 less than the $32,328 budgeted in that account for the 1979-80 appropriation.

The revenue sharing budget this year includes a $3,000 expenditure for community activities, primarily senior citizen programs. Also included is the revenue sharing budget is $2,000 each for the South Roxana and Mitchell fire departments for improvements to their respective fire stations, and $2,000 for improvements to the Hartford park.

Willard Eberhardt, township highway commissioner, told the board that the highway department the latter part of this month will begin a program of road oiling and chipping on all roads in the township. Eberhardt said the schedule of work will be prepared and residents along the roadways will be notified at least a day in advance so when their streets will be oiled.

In addition to the increase in cost, beginning July 1, Venice police will begin issuing traffic citations to any vehicle without one. Fines could range as much as $35 in addition to the $5 license fee, according to Smith.

The vehicle license may be purchased between the hours of 8 a.m. and 4 p.m. Monday through Friday in the city comptroller's office.

Arrest man on disorderly charge

Terry R. Timmons, 23, of Centralia, Ill., and the 2300 block of Delmar Avenue, was arrested at 2:20 a.m. Tuesday at 2309 Delmar Ave., and charged with disorderly conduct.

Police went to the house in response to a call that a man was threatening a woman with a knife.

Carlos Collins told officers that Timmons had argued with Collins' sister, who is Timmons' former wife, threatening her with a knife. Earlier Timmons had displayed a shotgun, police were told.

A carving knife was recovered from beneath the couch on which Timmons was seated, police said.

Saturday bazaar at area church

The women of Community Heights Assembly of God Church, Faith and Buxton avenues, will host a bazaar Saturday, June 21, from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. at the church.

Officers in charge of the annual project include Sandy Jacobs, Pat Jacobs, Janet Smith and Donna Mitchell.

Various booths are being planned to feature a bake sale with homemade breads, bakery goods, and jellies, funnel cakes, a rummage and white elephant sale as well as handicraft items.

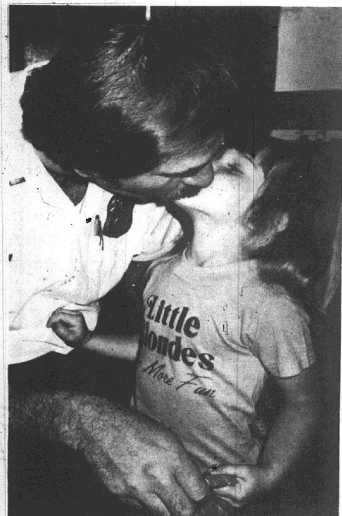

Also crocheted afghans and knitted articles, floral arrangements and a special Christmas booth.

The chairmen announce all items offered for sale will be $7.50 or less with the proceeds to go to the completion of the Community Christian Center of the church.

The center will be open to area residents under the direction of the church, they added.

SOLICITING CHARGE

Two men selling balloons and cotton candy along the route of last week's Anad Shrine Circus Parade were arrested and charged with soliciting sales without a city permit. Arrested were Frederick W. Swartz, 35, St. Louis, who was allegedly selling balloons, and William Belhaus, 24, St. Charles, Mo., who allegedly sold cotton candy. They were released on $35 cash bond each.

Prepare for river user fee on Oct. 1

The Internal Revenue Service published in the June 9 Federal Register its proposed regulations for compliance with the excise tax on fuel used in commercial waterway transportation.

As mandated by the Inland Waterways Revenue Act of 1978 (PL 95-502), a fuel tax will be imposed for commercial operations on 26 segments of the domestic waterway system. The tax will take effect on Oct. 1.

The tax will be levied according to the following schedule:

After Sept. 30, 1980, and before Oct. 1, 1981 — 4 cents a gallon.

After Sept. 30, 1981, and before Oct. 1, 1983 — 6 cents a gallon.

After Sept. 30, 1982, and before Oct. 1, 1985 — 4 cents a gallon.

After Sept. 30, 1985 — 10 cents a gallon.

This tax will be imposed on the use of liquid fuel in the propulsion system of commercial transportation vessels — including ships, barges, and tugs — while operating on affected inland and intracoastal waterways.

The vessel operator is considered the user of that fuel, and will be responsible for filing return and paying the tax.

If a vessel owner (or lessee) contracts with an independent contractor to operate the vessel, then the independent contractor is the user of the fuel, regardless of who purchases it.

Vessels engaged in commercial transportation are defined as those "in the business of transporting property for compensation or hire" or "in transporting property in the business of the owner, lessee or operator of the vessel (whether or not a fee is charged)."

NEW LIONS DEN. Pontoon Beach Lions Club members are putting up a 3½x12 foot sign on their new Lions building at 3901 Lake Drive. The building will be officially dedicated this

Venice auto tag price to go up to $5

Venice, Chief of Police Farris Smith has reminded motorists that city vehicle stickers will increase in price from the current $3 to $5 beginning July 1.

Smith noted that they have been on sale at the Venice City Hall since May 1.

In addition to the increase in cost, beginning July 1, Venice police will begin issuing traffic citations to any vehicle without one.

Fines could range as much as $35 in addition to the $5 license fee, according to Smith.

The vehicle license may be purchased between the hours of 8 a.m. and 4 p.m. Monday through Friday in the city comptroller's office.

Golden Agers observe event

In observance of Father's Day, the Golden Age Circle Club was served a chicken dinner last week at the Kirkpatrick Homes Recreation Center.

Special honors were accorded to James Davis, 94, the oldest father at the dinner. He was presented a large planter.

The occasion also served to honor Mr. and Mrs. Randall (Linda) Irwin, owners and operators of the Irwin Chapel for Funerals, 2801 Madison Ave., who were presented honorary membership cards for their 'contributions and assistance to the club.'

Eighty-five attended the event and were welcomed by Mrs. Ruby Corbitt, president. Guests also included Misty Stark and Marilyn Stevens.

Games were played and prizes were awarded to Evelyn Morgan, Belle Kreher, Martin Schulte, Nan Shone, Ruth Purkey, Jennie Moody and Leota Sedabres.

Assisting in the kitchen were Mrs. Corbitt, Schulte, Caroline Lux, Tom Crowsley, Juanita Crawley, Mrs. Moody, Evelyn Davis, Effie Johnson, Edith Young, Opal Voss, Mrs. Stevens, Vi Lindner and Pauline Cox.

The club will discontinue dinner sessions in July and August, but will hold its business and birthday meetings.

HOUSE BURGLARY

Barbara Jackson, 1912 Beckwith Ave., Madison, returned home, after visiting a friend at the hospital, to find at 3:40 p.m. Friday that her home had been burglarized and $78 in cash taken. The doors to the home had allegedly been left unlocked.

Cable TV moves one step ahead here

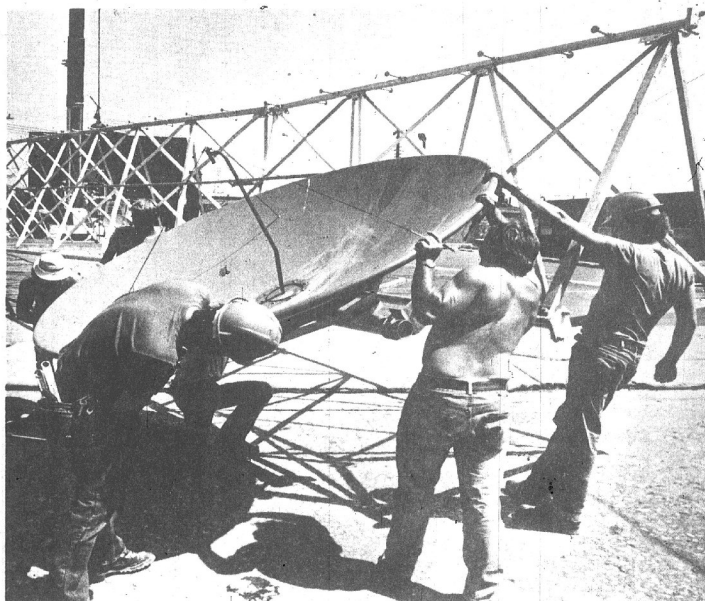

TOP LEFT — 135-foot tower is repositioned on ground prior to being set into place.

TOP RIGHT — Microwave dish antenna is attached to the tower by workmen.

BELOW — Tower and dish are raised and rotated before being lifted onto the concrete base. The tower can withstand a 125 miles per hour wind with only a four-degree sway.

AT CENTER — Workers bolt one leg of the triangular tower to the concrete base. Eighteen yards of concrete were used to form the three base pads which support the galvanized tower.

FAIR RIGHT — Thirteen-story tower installation task is complete. The hydraulic "cherry picker" in the foreground is used to place the structure upright.

'A piece of cake' for skilled workers

Quad-City area residents awaiting the arrival of their first images from cable TV programming got a "big lift" this weekend when a unique procedure was employed to hoist a 135-foot, completely pre-assembled, receiving tower into position.

Area residents stared in awe as a giant 35-ton "cherry picker" crane, with a 136-foot boom attached, lifted the huge tower, rotated it in mid-air, and then set the 13-story giant upright upon its previously constructed base.

It was a "piece of cake" for Richard Hausman, an operating engineer with 22 years of experience in heavy equipment handling.

The specification for the 13-story maze of galvanized steel tubing and supportive lattice work were formulated by George Steiger, vice-president, engineering, South-Western Cable TV.

He was on hand to see the tower finally bolted into place atop an 18-yard concrete foundation with specially constructed reinforcements for stabilization.

According to the engineer, the tower will withstand a 125 miles per hour wind with no more than a four degree sway.

The unique design — and the related inherent strength of the tower — eliminates the need for stabilizing guy wires.

Manufactured by Rhone Industries in Peoria, Ill., the tower was completely assembled, on site, in the 1800 block of Delmar Avenue.

It was designed to receive a very high frequency microwave signal, in the 12 Gigahertz (Ghz) range, for added picture enhancement and to allow for centralized "hub" system control by the parent company, thereby reducing equipment requirements at each "satellite" station.

The new receiving tower, to be operational in about a week, will receive a signal beamed from a 250-foot tower in Maryville.

Tornado capital of the world, the U.S. has the unfortunate distinction of being struck by far more twisters than any other country — between 600 and 1,200 yearly. This map shows the average number of tornadoes that have hit each state annually during the past 25 years. The figures in parentheses are the average number of tornado-related deaths each year during the same period. As these statistics show, the greatest potential for casualties is not necessarily where the largest number of storms occur. Mississippi, for instance, has had the second highest number of deaths in recent years, even though nearly a dozen other states have been hit by more twisters. The chart at right depicts when tornadoes are most likely to strike.

Tornado season continuing

It's tornado season in the U.S., especially in a five-state area known as "tornado alley." And if 1980 is an average year, 600 to 1,200 tornadoes will kill about 120 Americans before it's over.

Tornado alley extends from Texas north through Oklahoma, Kansas, Nebraska and Missouri, and sometimes into Illinois, a new National Wildlife Federation study shows.

Although tornadoes have occurred in all 50 states, the frequency of twisters in the Midwest has helped substantially to give the U.S. the unfortunate distinction of being the "tornado capital of the world."

In the "alley," from April through June, warm air flowing northward from the Gulf of Mexico collides with cold, dry winds blowing south from Canada, the report explains. These "discordant elements" give birth to the violent thunderstorms that spawn tornadoes.

A tornado — from tornado, the Spanish word for thunderstorm — is a rotating column of air spinning around a vacuum.

"Erupting from a cumulo nimbus, or thunder cloud, this funnel is made of condensed water; in effect it is a cloud itself," says National Wildlife.

"When the 'cloud' reaches the ground, it picks up dirt and debris which makes it turn black in color. Its great destructive power comes from the high, twisting velocity of its winds, which can churn at more than 400 miles per hour."

Scientists do not know why tornadoes form in some clouds and not in others. Because most twisters are short-lived and seldom travel more than 15 miles, they are extremely difficult to study.

T. Theodore Fujita, a University of Chicago meteorologist who is considered the nation's leading authority on twisters, told National Wildlife, "If you look at a world map for places that are likely to have tornadoes, you look for areas where warm moisture can move inland onto a continent from tropical waters, uninterrupted by mountains."

Usually, twisters spin in a counterclockwise rotation, traveling northeasterly at about 40 miles per hour. Most of them fizzle out in less than half an hour. But occasionally, twisters come in bunches over a longer period of time. In this century, this has happened three times:

— On March 18, 1965, seven tornadoes ripped across a 437-mile area of Missouri, Illinois and Indiana. The largest of them covered more than 200 miles and killed nearly 700 people.

— On March 18, 1965, a massive siege of 37 twisters covered 853 miles in six states. About 800 people died, and property damage surpassed $300 million.

— On April 3 and 4, 1974, the greatest tornado eruption in the nation's no fewer than 148 twisters gouged through 13 states east of the Mississippi River, covering 2,000 miles and killing 300 people. The damage amounted to more than a half-billion dollars.

The worst tornado of last year struck the north Texas town of Wichita Falls on April 10, 1979 — a day the citizens now call "terrible Tuesday."

For 20 minutes on the late afternoon, the city of 100,000 people was struck by a violent tornado whose winds rotated at more than 200 miles per hour, killing 45 people and destroying $400 million worth of property. Wichita Falls is on the southern tip of tornado alley. Meteorologists predict that in the heart of tornado alley, chances are that a specific location might be struck by a twister about once every 250 years.

"But tornado patterns do not fit mathematical models," explains National Wildlife. Oklahoma City has been hit by twisters 32 times since 1892. And the community of Codell, Kan., amazingly, was hit three years in a row — 1916, 1917, and 1918 — on the same day, May 20.

Researchers may never be able to prevent tornadoes, although Fujita has been able to break up scaled-down twisters in his laboratory.

Fortunately, advances have been made in tornado detection.

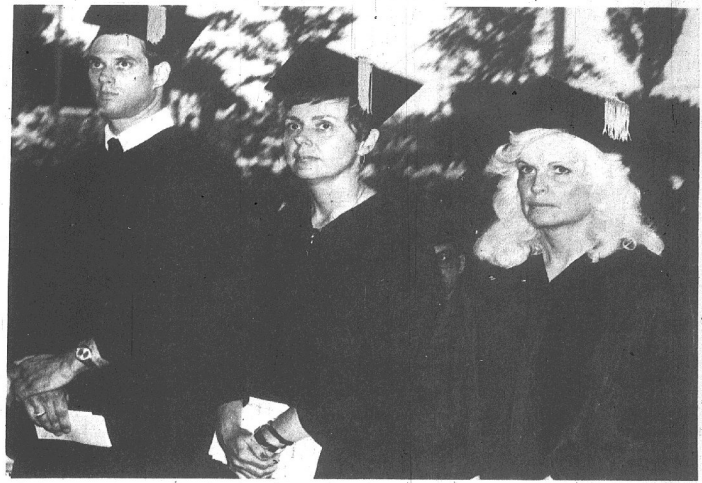

In Norman, Okla., a 30-foot dome houses a radar system operated by the National Severe Storms Laboratory. A year ago, the system picked up almost every twister in the area, and enabled weathermen to locate some tornadoes a half hour before they hit.

The tornado report is part of a National Wildlife series on violent natural phenomena. The others covered tidal waves, earthquakes, lightning, and volcanoes.

If a tornado approaches, National Wildlife offers this advice: "Go to the basement or innermost room of the house or building, away from windows. Cover yourself with pillows and mattresses."

"If you are in a car, get out quickly and lie in a ditch, culvert or other low spot."

In the Wichita Falls storm, 25 of the 45 people killed were in automobiles; 16 of them had gotten into their cars, hoping to escape.

Hearing on van proposal

The Mental Health Clinic Quad City Center will hold a public meeting on Monday, June 23, at 5:30 p.m. at 2024 State St., Granite City, to discuss a transportation capital grant request filed under Illinois Revised Statutes (1977) Chapter 127, Section 49.19a and the U.S. Urban Mass Transportation Act of 1964 as amended.

The grant requests two 12-passenger vans, one to be equipped with an hydraulic lift and two wheelchair spaces to transport elderly and handicapped persons in the southern half of Madison County.

The grant requests 80 percent funding from the U.S. Urban Mass Transportation Administration, U.S. Department of Transportation, and up to 20 percent from the Illinois Department of Transportation.

Public and private transit and paratransit operators and all other interested parties are being invited to attend the meeting.

The application may be viewed at the Mental Health Clinic, 2024 State St., between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. Comments regarding the application may be submitted by July 7 to the:

Division of Public Transportation, Illinois Department of Transportation, 300 N. State St., Room 1002, Chicago 60610.

Find cash box empty

Bill Woodward and Ken Stout, managers and operators of Pappa K's Pizza, 3208 Maryville Road, reported a burglary at 5:50 p.m. Monday, in which $150 was taken from a cash box.

The men said they had purchased the business last week and had arrived Monday to find one lock on the door unlocked. A second lock was secured.

Keys were jammed on a computer-type cash register, which was emitting a buzzing sound. There was money still inside the register, they said.

RN, left, and Madeline Scott, pediatric unit secretary. The lower photo shows the portable slide projector, with sound, in operation. The presentation took place in the children's playroom that the Pontoon Beach Lions Club helped furnish. The St. Elizabeth Medical Center public relations staff is responsible for the presentation, with the assistance of many of the staff members and associates as "actors." The photos and script were done by Diana Linsley of the public relations staff.

Beth's hospital visit

By MICK STRANGE
of the Press-Record

If your age was eight or nine and you faced surgery for tonsils or adenoids and you were in a great big building and there were a lot of strange people around in scary costumes with green masks on their faces, and nearby some unusual looking machinery was humming, you might regard it as a frightening experience.

This, however, is not usually the case at St. Elizabeth Medical Center—thanks to a caring staff and a new slide presentation titled "Beth's Hospital Visit."

Beth is 12 and the star. She is representative of the many hundreds of young children who at one time or another visit the hospital.

The narrated photographic slide presentation follows her hospital "adventures" from the time she gets a sore throat, through a tonsillectomy and back home again, all safe and sound.

The entire procedures are explained in words and terms easily understood by youngsters.

A blood test is explained as being much like a shot, except that instead of putting medicine into you they take some blood out of you.

The children are told about some of the things that blood can tell a doctor. They are told that it may hurt just a bit, and that it is okay to cry if they want to.

After viewing the film with about seven little people and their parents, "one eight-year-old came over to this reporter, proudly held out his arm and, with the other hand, pointed to a bandage and said, "This is where they got my blood from, and they will know about me."

The slide narrative points out that a special name bracelet was placed on Beth's wrist so that everyone would know Beth.

In the presentation, since everyone in the operating room will be wearing very special green clothing with green masks and even green hats, Beth is told she can wear a green hat, too—and so can Raggedy Ann, her doll.

Beth is told about a shot she will get to make her sleepy before the operation and about a stretcher, which is a bed with wheels, that will take her and Raggedy Ann to the operating room.

She is told about the many machines in the operating room and that when she sees all the people in green Beth will know that there always are people nearby who care for her.

Beth is told about electrodes that will be fastened to her and why. She is told the electrodes are "kind of like Band-aids with wires."

As the slide show continues, Beth wakes up in the recovery room and soon goes home, minus some tonsils, but nevertheless a happy little girl.

The theme throughout is that Beth, and all the children at SEMC, are special people to all the staff, and that the main purpose of the hospital is to help Beth and all others get well and stay healthy.

Pediatric Supervisor Carol Gass, RN, said, "The purpose of the slide presentation is to help decrease the anxiety and apprehensions of the children before surgery. Parents are also encouraged to view the slide show."

"We have just really started the use of the program and have received some very positive feedback from the children and parents."

"The children also have a coloring book that fits in well with the presentation."

The medical staff approved the presentation before it was shown to young patients.

Dr. Tipu Sultan, MD, a pediatric specialist, commented, "This is an excellent presentation for children. It definitely helps prepare the children and lets them know what to expect in regard to surgery."

"I think the hospital public relations staff (headed by Jimmy Tuetken) did a fine job in preparing this. It definitely is worthwhile."

Dr. Sultan said. The star is Beth Rigby, age 12, daughter of Mrs. Barbara Rigby, a member of the SEMC staff. All the many "actors" are also SEMC staff members.

Slide photos and the script were done by Diana Linsley of the SEMC public relations department.

4-H student exchanges

Mary Beth Shoemate of the Banner 4-H Club in St. Jacob was guest speaker at the 58ers 4-H Club June meeting held at St. John's United Church of Christ.

She spoke about her five-week trip to Japan last summer as a participant in the Labo exchange program.

Labo is an organization in Japan for youth aged 4-19. Labo students are permitted to visit Korea at age 10 and to visit the U.S. starting at age 13. Labo students are taught English in their program.

Mary Beth's family hosted a 15-year-old boy in 1978, and she lived with a Japanese family which has a 13-year-old daughter. This year, the Shoemate exchange will be a 15-year-old boy.

Mrs. Anna Shoemate accompanied her daughter to Granite City.

Four-H also sponsors translators who visit the U.S. and supports the IFYE program for older 4-Hers. Madison County 4-Hers will be hosting Minnesota 4-H members July 6-12, and next year Madison County youths will visit Minnesota.

David Baker led the American pledge and Kathy Zinn led the 4-H pledge. President Kelly Ault conducted a business session.

Gloria Milani, secretary, asked members to answer roll with their favorite summer pastimes. Treasurer Maria Ault was authorized to pay bills.

Guests for the evening included Mrs. Mary Pascoe, Mrs. Judy Baker, Jennifer Baker, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Hein, Mrs. Belinda Hoffman, Mrs. Wanita Graham, Steven Graham, Mrs. Rita Dimitroff, Mrs. Pat Knollman and Mrs. Jim Strack.

Birthdays for June were celebrated by Kathy Zinn and Gina Graham.

Food demonstrations and talks were presented by Amy Johnson on proper table settings and David Baker on peanut butter drop cookies. Karen Spencer modeled white knit drawstring pants and a polyester print blouse. Nancy Dimitroff modeled a wrap-around skirt and pullover blouse.

Other projects shown at the local achievement program included yeast rolls by Kelly Ault, cereal marshmallow bars by Marta

Ault, corn bread by David Baker, a baby quilt made in textiles and tube painting shown by Paula Bills, corn bread by Catharine Dimitroff, popovers by Nancy Dimitroff, and green beans with bacon by Wendy Gass and Wendy Knollman.

Beth Hein had a photography display and will show her dog obedience project at a workshop July 11 and participate in the county show at Highland July 20.

Beth Johnson and Sarah Pascoe displayed muffins. Amy Knollman showed popovers, while turnover pastries were shown by Gloria Milani. Gloria also displayed a geranium which she started from a cutting in her indoor gardening project.

Chocolate cake was the exhibit of Christa Parkison. Suzanne Strack and Amy Johnson displayed sugar bar cookies and Kathy Ault showed her wastebasket, made in a room improvement project.

Members who will not be able to attend the county show days for food and clothing June 26 and 27 in Edwardsville are to show their projects on June 13, 16 or 18 and are to make arrangements through the leaders, Mrs. Spencer or Mrs. Ault.

Four-H camp will be held July 7-11 for younger members and July 14-18 for teen members. Deadline for camp entries is June 25.

Arts and crafts, room improvement, photography and indoor gardening projects will be shown by members at the Madison County Fair beginning Monday, July 21.

The July meeting will be held July 2, which is a change of date.

Members are to bring their completed record sheets, and any member wishing to meet project requirements by giving a talk or demonstration will do so at this meeting.

Refreshments of cookies and punch and invitations were handled by Amy Knollman, Karen Spencer, Kelly Ault, Gina Graham and Gloria Milani.

The 1980-81 club year will begin in September, and youths between the ages of eight and 19 interested in participating are welcome to call Mrs. Ault, 877-1188, or Mrs. Spencer, 876-8714, for information.

'Y' camp opens

The Tri-City Area YMCA's day camp director, Lucy Tueth, has announced the staff for this year's camp which began this week. Y will provide drinks.

Included in the daily camp activities are swimming, crafts, sports and games, hiking and special events. Every night will be held at the Y on July 18 and 25 for campers attending camp those weeks.

The cost per weekly session is $15 for YMCA members and $20 for non-members. There are a limited number of scholarships available for those who are in need of partial financial assistance.

4 hurt on W. Pontoon

Four people sustained injuries at 2:15 p.m. Sunday in a three-car collision at West Pontoon Road and Missouri Avenue.

Police said two vehicles, operated by Albert W. Kirchner, 80, of Delwood, Mo., and Norris R. Falkenstein, 2605 Center St., collided at the intersection.

The Kirchner auto then spun around and struck a vehicle driven by Ruth Soden, Rural Route Two, Granite City.

Kirchner, who was ticketed for disobeying a traffic signal, was taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Medical Center suffering back injuries. He was admitted.

A passenger in his auto,

Mrs. Eleanor A. Kirchner, 69, of Delwood, Mo., bumped her head and was taken by ambulance to the medical center and admitted.

Also taken to St. Elizabeth by ambulance were Mrs. Soden, 47, who was admitted with an injury to the left shoulder, and Roe Harris, 81, of 2653 E. 27th St., a passenger in the Falkenstein auto, who bumped his head.

He was treated and released.

Mrs. Lucas, a descendant of early pioneer families of Western Illinois, has long been active in DAR work at the chapter and at the state level, and has participated actively in church and community projects. As Illinois State Regent, she serves on the National Board of Management, NSDAR. She also is an advisory member of the Board of Trustees of Tamassee DAR School.

ALTERNATIVE ENERGY GRANTS BY STATE

Frank Beal, director of the Illinois Institute of Natural Resources, says INR has awarded $1 million in grants to help finance 16 projects for development of alternative energy in Illinois. The grants will permit construction of energy projects involving production of alcohol, use of solar energy, and generation of electricity from wind.

Funds for the grants were drawn from a special state bond fund for energy development.

This I Believe

By
Kenneth V. Reeves, Pastor

After 38 years of preaching, 4 years ago the Lord spoke to me saying: I have put my Name in you, and My Word in You and My Spirit upon you, GO AND CAST OUT DEVILS! Since May of 1976 I have travelled to many parts of the United States, as well as into India preaching and praying for the people. Some miracles have happened as well as a good number of healings for the body have occurred; but primarily many hundreds and thousands have been delivered from fear, depression, oppression, and some possessions caused by evil spirits. I have pastored in Granite City, Illinois, for the past 24 years, but on an average of about once a month go out to minister to people in other communities. For instance I will be in Wisconsin 5 days in July, in Tennessee 3 days in July, in Chesapeake, West Virginia, 3 days in August, and 4 days in Montgomery, Alabama, in November. First United Pentecostal Church of Granite City, Illinois, is becoming known more and more as the Church of Deliverance. Being Sound in Doctrine and Strong in Faith the United Pentecostal Churches Welcome you to attend every service. If you enjoy good spiritual singing, beautiful choir specials, and Faith preaching based upon God's word, come Sunday night 7 P.M.

Cloverview Garden Club celebrates 25th year

by DONNA HARTWICK
of the Press-Record

Charter members and past presidents of Cloverview Garden Club were accorded special honors at a festive tea marking the 25th anniversary of the organization hosted by Mrs. George Knapp in her home, 2649 Westmoreland Drive.

Past presidents attending were Mesdames John Jenkins, the charter president, and George Knapp, G. O'Neill, Charles Gandoria, Robert McCauley, Kenneth Brokaw, William H. Bradley, Richard Branding and William Ogden who now resides in Bolling Green, Mo.

Corsages of yellow carnations with green accents, which are the club colors, were presented to each past officer by Mrs. Eldon Meikamp, the current president and a charter member.

Serving on the committee for the tea were Mrs. Clarence Elberger, Mrs. John Lentz and Mrs. William Miller.

During the afternoon a brief history of the club was reviewed noting that on Wednesday, Aug. 10, 1955, the Cloverview Club was organized at the home of Mrs. George Stearns, 1608 Bremen Ave., attended by Mesdames Donald Spalding, August Theis, D. W. Houston, Luther DuNard, Russell West, Fred Fahnstret, John Jenkins, Eldon Meikamp, Douglas Aune.

Members not present for the preliminary meeting were Mrs. Wallace Holton, Robert McCauley, Anthony Vesce and Frank Seiter.

By-laws were adopted and plans for the year's program were discussed and officers elected. Those named to serve for the initial year included Mrs. Jenkins, president, Mrs. Meikamp, vice-president, Mrs. Aune, secretary and Mrs. Spalding, treasurer.

The new club was sponsored by the Garden Study Club of which Mrs. Stearns, Mrs. Houston, Mrs. Theis and Mrs. Spalding were members.

During the first months of organization the club members were primarily interested in learning the various methods of planting grass and shrubs. By November the group agreed to beautify the entrance to the Cloverview subdivision and planned to hold a Christmas Fair the following year.

Through the years the club members have been involved in planting trees and shrubs to landscape various areas. The first such project was to plant shrubs at the new Frohhardt School.

To continue their civic programs the club filled planters furnished by the downtown merchants and in the fall the planters were filled with small evergreens.

In 1957 a decision was made to petition the federation for membership and in 1959 the club held its first flower show in the home of Mrs. Jenkins.

APPRECIATION GIFT is presented to Mrs. George Stearns, right, acknowledging her assistance in the organization of the Cloverview Garden Club 25 years ago, by Mrs. George Knapp, hostess of the anniversary tea.

Theme for the show was "Spring Fashions" and attracted 73 entries.

Each year the club gained knowledge of gardening and expanded its activities and programs to planting at area sites, sponsoring flower shows, visiting Shaw's Botanical Gardens, the National Headquarters of State Garden Clubs, making a pilgrimage to Lincoln Memorial Garden, Springfield, and Pere Marquette State Park at Grafton.

They participated throughout the years in district and regional flower shows entering a variety of plants, flowers and centerpieces arranged by individual members.

During the years the active club has received many ribbons in competition with individual members. Their extensive collections exhibited in year and scrapbooks.

Cloverview in complying with federated requirements to earn 100 points was, for the first time, designated a "Blue Ribbon Club" by the Illinois State Council of Garden Clubs for club achievements. This ribbon was presented to Mrs. Leo Roman, in behalf of the club, at the annual meeting in April 1962 at the Palmer House in Chicago.

In a continuing effort to further the club's programs and education in gardening a club library was established with plans to add new literature and books each year. The members also continued to sponsor fund raising projects, flower shows and displays and enroll in area wide shows as a group and on an individual basis and attend workshops.

Yearbooks were prepared following the installation of new officers each year with a comprehensive monthly program on all aspects of gardening.

Cloverview won the coveted red rosette at the state convention in 1975 for the best yearbook entered in District V, that involved 17 clubs.

Mrs. O'Neill and Mrs. Jenkins are now serving on the district board and Mrs. Ogden and Mrs. O'Neill were

Arrest 2 in pickup incident

Two men were arrested at 5:10 a.m. Friday near 32nd and Edna streets after a woman in a pickup truck began sounding the horn and waving her arms at an officer on patrol.

Mary Theis, 2147 Lee Ave., told police that Ken W. Mitchell, 23, of 1636 Primrose Ave., who was standing by the truck, had taken the vehicle's keys and refused to let her leave.

In order to get help, the woman said she had sounded the horn and another man came out of a nearby dwelling and allegedly cut the right rear tire on the truck.

The officer went to 3000 E. 23rd St., and Miss Theis identified Gary T. Barton, 32, of that address as the man who cut the tire.

Barton was charged with criminal damage to property and released on payment of a $35 cash bond.

Mitchell was charged with disorderly conduct and criminal damage to property.

Bible school at Calvary

Calvary Baptist Church held a parade Saturday to kickoff its children's vacation Bible school. The parade started at the church, 3000 Washington Ave., and went through the Glenview and Community Heights areas.

Prizes were awarded for the best decorated bicycles in two different age groups for boys and girls. There were refreshments after the parade.

The school began June 15 and will continue through Tuesday, June 24. Sunday sessions will last from 9:30 a.m. to 12 noon. Other sessions will be from 9 to noon.

"Parker Buses" will be awarded for attendance and activities, and these can be redeemed at the church carnival Wednesday, June 25, 6 to 9 p.m. on the church parking lot.

According to Chester Parker, pastor, the church bus will run through Glenview and Community Heights. Children through 6th grade are being invited to attend the school.

Word Processing unit is organized here

The International Word Processing Association, whose headquarters are located in Willow Grove, Penn., has acquired a new Illinois chapter.

This chapter was organized by Joyce Sikora, Word Processing supervisor at Granite City Steel Division, and was chartered on Thursday, May 22. The chapter meeting was held at the Roundtable Restaurant in Collinsville. Membership is comprised of persons from Granite City, Alton, Wood River, Collinsville, Edwardsville and Belleville.

Speakers engaged from the St. Louis Chapter for the special meeting were: Erv Stedman, vice-president, Maritz Motivation Co.; Glen Randle, senior vice-president, Community Federal Savings and Loan; and Maggie Norman, manager office services, Gardner Advertising Co.

Stedman, a representative for International, spoke with the group regarding international's expectations and involvement with the individual chapters. Randle's speech included suggestions for the officers and membership that the St. Louis Chapter has found to be successful. Mrs. Norman acquainted the educator membership with the type of involvement the St. Louis Chapter has with the surrounding area high schools and colleges.

Stedman presented the charter and installed. Officers are: president, Joyce Sikora, Granite City Steel Division; vice-president-membership, Fannie Gonzales, Scott Air Force Base; vice-president-programs, Dr. Willie Pike, SIU at Edwardsville; secretary-treasurer, Captain Grey Florey, Scott Air Force Base; historian, Rose Anne Davis, Roxana High School; and director-at-large, Mike Neiner, dictaphone.

The chapter will meet the fourth Wednesday of the month in the Collinsville Bluff area with the June and July meetings at Rousto's Restaurant. The program slate for June will include two speakers: Kay Kavis, BUTLER FLOOR CO. CERAMIC TILE 877-8426 supervisor office services, Carbone Co., on Word Processing Procedures. Charlotte Goldstein, supervisor of information processing, Monsanto Co. on Word Processing Qualifications and Career Paths.

The next meeting will be in September. Memberships will be accepted from educators whose field include word processing, supervisors of word processing centers and business personnel interested in setting up a word processing area. It is possible for an interested person to attend as a guest for one meeting; however, anyone interested in attending a meeting must make a reservation, it was announced.

If anyone would like additional information, inquiries may be mailed to: Mrs. Joyce Sikora, supervisor, Word Processing Department, Granite City Steel Division, 20th & State Streets, Granite City, Ill. 62040.

MARRIED. Mr. and Mrs. George L. Miller Jr., whose wedding took place at St. Elizabeth Catholic Church. Formerly Patricia Jo Fyalka, the bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Fyalka, 2565 Lynch Ave.

Mayors plan ladies night

A ladies night program will be observed by the Southwestern Illinois Council of Mayors at its next regular meeting Wednesday, June 25.

The event will be held at Fisher's Restaurant, Belleville.

A social hour will begin at 6 p.m. and dinner will be served at 7 p.m. Mayor Don Melhorn of Swansea will host the mayors and their guests. The dinner will be followed by dancing to music that will include some disco by "The Bullfrogs."

Patricia Fyalka weds George L. Miller Jr.

Patricia Jo Fyalka, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Fyalka, 2565 Lynch Ave., became the bride of George Lawrence Miller Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. George L. Miller Sr., 2331 Waterman Ave., in an afternoon ceremony on April 26 at St. Elizabeth Catholic Church.

Father Henry Schmidt performed the 2 o'clock ceremony before an altar decorated with vases of blue gladioli, pink carnations, white mums and ferns.

Organist Nick Georgeoff accompanied Roger Wilson, the soloist and guitarist, a cousin of the groom. Selections included "Follow Me," "Just The Way Your Are," "Wedding Song," "Rhymes and Reasons" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore a full length white gown designed with a blouson bodice, high lace neckline and long sleeves featuring lace insets.

Belgium lace bordered the hemline of the skirt which fell softly into a chapel train. She wore a waist length veil secured to a white satin cap enhanced with matching lace appliques. Her bridal bouquet was composed of silk white roses, dusty rose color roses, poppies, stephanotis and baby's breath with sprigs of greenery.

Attending the bride were Mrs. Lisa Guadette, matron of honor, and Miss Lori Fyalka, a sister of the bride. Mrs. Kay Sheek, Mrs. Alice Fyalka, the bride's sister-in-law, and Mrs. Mary Simpson, the groom's sister, bridesmaids and Miss Kerry Rickert as junior bridesmaid.

They chose identical style dresses in green hues fashioned with blouson bodices, scoop necklines, cap sleeves and full pleated skirts.

Each girl wore a single silk rose with baby's breath in their hair and held bouquets similar to the bride's flowers.

Thomas Gray served as best man. Sam Nesbit, an uncle of the groom, Rob and Ray Fyalka, brothers of the bride, Cary Simpson, the groom's brother-in-law, Tom Miller, a brother of the groom, Mike Miller, the groom's cousin and Kevin Marcus completed the corps of groomsmen and ushers.

Mrs. Fyalka, mother of the bride, was attired in a formal length dusty green gown created with a fitted bodice, long sleeves, high collar and pleated skirt. The groom's mother wore a jade green gown long dress fashioned with an Empire bodice, long fitted sleeves and V-neckline.

Both mothers wore corages of silk roses with baby's breath.

The groom's parents hosted a rehearsal dinner at the Granite City Army Installation Supper Club and the reception was held in St. Engelbert Hall, Madison. Jodi Ricotta attended the guest book.

The newlywed couple is residing in New Baden, Ill., following a wedding trip to Tan-Tara-A. A 1977 graduate of North High School, the bride graduated from Lakeland College, Mattoon, Ill. She holds a dental hygiene certificate for Dr. Paul Nativ in Collinsville.

The groom also graduated in 1977 from North High School and attended Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. He is employed as sporting goods manager for K-Mart Store in Centralia.

Chapter HT ends season

Mrs. Richard Kerch entertained the members of Chapter HT at her home last week serving a dessert luncheon prior to the business session.

President Mrs. L. C. Slate Jr. reviewed the Illinois state convention of the P.E.O. Sisterhood she had attended in Springfield, Mo. in June through June.

Mrs. Maurice Dailey accompanied Mrs. Slate. Also attending from Granite City were Mrs. Frank Kraus and Mrs. Lenore Davis, who are members of the chapter.

Mrs. V. M. Dowdall of Beardstown, Ill., state president presided at the convention business sessions. She introduced Mrs. C. Corley, Valparaiso, Ind., who is the international organizer for the Sisterhood. Mrs. Corley spoke at the opening session.

Mrs. Slate announced plans had been completed for the reciprocity meeting of Group One, to be held in Alton on October 28.

The ways and means chairman, Mrs. Richard West, reported a garage sale and she thanked her committee and discussed plans for fund raising activities planned for next fall.

After summer vacation the group will hold its first fall meeting at the home of Mrs. Harold Fletcher on Oct. 13, it was announced.

Also attending were Mrs. Elmer Baker, Mrs. A. F. Buente, Mrs. Charles Kohl, Mrs. C. E. Mathias, Mrs. Art Menendez, Mrs. B. S. Miller Sr., Mrs. Randall Robertson, Mrs. A. C. Stoeber, and Mrs. Paul Surbey.

MR. AND MRS. JOHNNY STAGGS whose wedding was solemnized at Victory Pentecostal Church. She is the former Victoria Jean Patterson, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Patterson, 2030 Fifth St., Madison.

Miss Patterson weds Johnny Lynn Staggs

The Rev. C. M. O'Guin performed a double ring ceremony at 4 p.m. on May 24 at Victory Pentecostal Church uniting in marriage Miss Victoria Jean Patterson and Johnny Lynn Staggs.

Karen Walliser sang, "If" and "You Light Up My Life" performed at the ceremony by Mrs. C. M. O'Guin, preceding the service.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Donald Patterson, 2030 Fifth St., Madison. The groom is the son of Mrs. Russell Staggs, 2220 Edwards St.

Blue and white wedding bells with sprigs of lily of the valley decorated the pews and a pyramid candelabra arranged with greenery and lily of the valley adorned the altar.

For her wedding the bride chose a white Chantilly lace gown fashioned with a fitted bodice, scallop neckline and long tapered sleeves accented with pearls and sequins.

The very full bouffant skirt extended into a chapel train. She wore a crown of pearls and sequins to secure her fingertip veil of bridal illusion edged with matching sequins.

Her bridal bouquet was an arrangement of silk white carnations, intermingled with blue carnations, baby's breath, tiny mums and other summer blossoms.

Mrs. Patricia Gibson, a sister of the groom, was matron of honor. She wore a floor length pastel blue chiffon over taffeta gown embellished with a white floral pattern and trimmed with lace at the neckline.

Bridesmaids included Sherri Welty and Stacie Patterson, a sister of the bride.

They were gown in solid blue dresses as was the flower girl, Joie White, a niece of the groom.

Each attendant held an arm bouquet of white silk roses with natural baby's breath and tied with blue pique ribbon and they wore tiny rosebuds with baby's breath in their hair.

The flower girl carried a basket filled with white carnations tipped with blue and white rosebuds.

Clinton North, a nephew of Physical therapy is meeting topic

Granite City Chapter 1340 of the American Association of Retired Persons heard a talk on the Stroke Rehabilitation program of the St. Elizabeth Medical Center by Jackie Haug, Mrs. Haug, registered physical therapist and Director of the Physical Therapy Department, described the efforts of the combined team who work to assist stroke victims to get them restored to their own potential.

She received her education from St. Louis University and has been at the hospital for 19 years. She started the Physical Therapy Department at St. Elizabeth's and recalled it being just two rooms on the old pediatric floor with no crutches and no phone. Mrs. Haug distributed a few copies of the St. Elizabeth's Hospital June issue which featured the Stroke Rehabilitation program with many pictures of the unit and local patients.

A business meeting was held before the program, opened by President Helen Bergfield with the Lord's Prayer and the pledge of allegiance. The April and May minutes were read by Secretary Karmyn Edmonds. Treasurer Clara Schilling's financial report was accepted as published in the monthly bulletin.

Guests introduced were Catherine Colligan, Wilma Cooper, Frances Goldside, Violet Nickell, Juliana Hoedebeck, Dorothy Hoedebeck and Stacey Evans.

Announcement was made that the Granite City Township was giving a movie for local seniors "The In-Laws" June 19 at 8:15 p.m. — and a Hoedown Party on June 24. This party will be a ham and beans dinner at 6:15 p.m. followed by a hoedown dance.

President Bergfield reminded all seniors of the Granite City Park District that seniors can swim free from 10:30 to 11:30 a.m. daily at Wilson Park. Saturday, June 21, will be AARP duty at the center, she added. Oscar Ash reported that the legislature was home for the summer and suggested that all watch the coming political convention's results.

Georgia Butler announced she sent 23 get well cards and four sympathy cards. Marge Hall presented the following new members: Wilma Cooper, Frances Goldside, Mary Grogan, Lucille Elberidge, Dorothy Hoedebeck, Juliana Hoedebeck and Victoria Kent. Lucille and Bob Allen were introduced as they were their 47th wedding anniversary. Door prizes including red geraniums donated by Irwin Chapel were presented to Thelma Schmidt, Catherine Clark, Frank Hoover, Gerald Fisher, Karmyn Edmonds, Catherine Hinkley, Dorothy Bridick, Philomena Gruber, Mary Tolka, Pauline Cox, Jan Meyer, Nora King, Birdie Weiss, Alene Bryer, Clara Ash, Evelyn Smith, Ann Graklanof, Lucille Hudgens and Lucille Allen.

Doughnuts and coffee were served by the monthly refreshment committee led by Karmyn Edmonds. The 47th wedding anniversary was played assisted by Mrs. Bergfield, Oscar Ash, Vi and Art Lindner, Cleveland and Pauline Cox, Delores Klesh and Elina Hoover. During the games it was announced that Ted and Lane Aufderheide were celebrating their 67th wedding anniversary.

There will be no June board meeting and the July meeting notice was given in the June AARP bulletin for members only and there will be no August meeting. The next meeting to which guests are invited will be the September meeting in September, Mrs. Bergfield added.

DIANA BREWER
Student work coordinator

Diana M. Brewer has been named assistant director of Student Work and Financial Assistance at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. She was announced this week by John P. Jannett, director.

The appointment is subject to confirmation by the SIU Board of Trustees. In her new position, Mrs. Brewer will be responsible for coordinating the employment program for approximately 1,600 part-time student workers at the university, supervising the interview and referral process, and assigning pay rates and payroll coding.

She will also be responsible for developing job opportunities both on and off campus and monitoring the earnings of College Work Study Program employees. In addition, she will develop, implement and apply federal, state and local employment policies during the student work program.

Before accepting the position at SIUE, Mrs. Brewer served as assistant director of records in the records office at Memphis State University for two years.

From 1974 until 1977, she was employed by the University of Illinois, Champaign-Urbana. While there, she held the positions of assistant director of career and life planning in the Office of Career Development and Placement and financial aids counselor in the Office of Student Financial Aids.

Before that, she served as a career education coordinator and counselor for student services at State Community College in East St. Louis from 1973 until 1974. From 1967 until 1973, Mrs. Brewer worked as a manpower representative, counselor and interviewer with the Illinois State Employment Service in East St. Louis.

She was an elementary school teacher, working for the East St. Louis district and at Lathrop Elementary School in Chicago during 1966-67. She received her bachelor of arts degree in English from Roosevelt University in Chicago in 1966 and a master of science in counselor education from SIUE in 1974.

She resides with her husband, Sherman R. Brewer, and two children, Jason, 9, and Tracy, 1, at 20 Depot, Edwardsville.

Recession in state, but bright spots include farms, mining, construction

Illinois Department of Commerce and Community Affairs statistics show the national economic slowdown has had significant effect in Illinois. But despite the recession, the state's economy outpaces the nation in agricultural, coal mining and construction activities.

The May Illinois unemployment rate was 7.9 percent, compared to the national rate of 7.3. However, Illinois showed only a .5 percent increase in the unemployment rate over the previous month, while the national rate rose by .8 percent.

Among the urban areas of the state, Champaign and Bloomington maintained the lowest unemployment rate in May, 4.9 and 5.2 percent, respectively. The 9.1 percent in Decatur was the highest in Illinois for May.

Manufacturing employment in Illinois was off by 4.6 percent compared to one year ago, while this rate was off by only 1.1 nationally.

Cash receipts from Illinois farm marketings were up by 24.2 percent in February of this year over the same period in 1979, even though the national increase for the same period was only 10.1 percent.

The continuing increase in Illinois farm production is reflected in the state's number one position as agricultural exporter. Illinois farm exports rose by three percent in 1979, continuing a steady pattern that began in 1975.

Contracts for new construction in Illinois were off by only 9 percent in April compared to one year ago, although the national new construction rate was off by 34 percent. New construction contracts in the state were off by 30 percent the previous month, and off by 25 percent nationwide.

April nonresidential construction activity was up 11 percent from the previous month; residential construction was down 63 percent; and nonbuilding construction (roads, bridges, etc.) was up over 100 percent.

Illinois coal production, which has been in a slump since 1972, is on the upswing again. Production has steadily increased during 1980 over 1979 figures.

New business incorporations in the state were up by 21.5 percent in February over the same period in 1979, while the national rate increased by only 10.1 percent.

Consumer price indexes in Chicago are still less than the U.S. average, and Chicago residents have the highest standard of living in the world, according to a new study by the Union Bank of Switzerland.

Families on intermediate and higher budgets in Chicago, $20,564 and $29,890 respectively, continue to pay fewer personal income taxes than the national average.

Gains in department store sales during February in Illinois were higher than in Decatur and Rockford, and lowest in Springfield and Danville.

A DCCA spokesman said the diversity and uncertainty of economic forecasts, are demonstrated in the projections of two reputable organizations have made on gross national product and personal income from 1980 and 1981.

The May Chase Econometrics Forecast projects a 1.4 percent decline and a 4 percent increase in "real" GNP for 1980 and 1981, respectively, while the May Data Resource Forecast projects a decrease of 4 percent in 1980 and a 7 percent increase in 1981.

Projected increases in total personal income range from 9 to 10.6 percent in 1980 between the two forecasts, and from 9 to 11.1 percent for 1981.

Control inflation with fiscal restraint, investment, productivity boost—Elliott

By DONALD S. ELLIOTT JR.

Inflation itself, of course, is nothing mysterious; inflation is merely a rising general price level. The disagreement arises over what has caused the current inflation, and what policies should be employed to cope with the current economic malaise.

My responsibility is to discuss the relationship between inflation and fiscal policy. In other words, we shall ask:

(1) To what extent has the budget of the federal government contributed to the current inflation?

(2) Can the federal government budget be used to reduce the severity of our current economic problems?

To begin our search for answers to these questions, we must first examine the linkage by which fiscal policy affects inflation.

Rising prices can be caused by excessive demand for goods and services or, equivalently, by insufficient supply of goods and services.

Consequently, there are two ways of classifying policies intended to reduce inflation; such policies must either restrain demand or augment supply.

Which set of policies is more appealing?

Policies which increase supply reduce inflation while encouraging increasing employment, higher productivity, and improved standards of living. Thus, it is not surprising that political candidates are touting great respect for supply-side economics.

Unfortunately, such policies are likely to have significant effect upon inflation only over a long period of time and to avoid exacerbating inflation in the short-run, require that other programs be cut or sacrificed.

For more immediate impact, we are left with policies which restrain demand. These include monetary policy and fiscal policy.

Fiscal policy can be used to restrain demand and reduce inflation either by reducing government's spending for goods and services or by raising taxes to reduce households' spending for goods and services.

Monetary policy can be used to restrain demand and reduce inflation by discouraging spending through tight credit and high interest rates.

Both policies have undesirable side effects. Both reduce inflation at the expense of higher unemployment in the short-run.

Fiscal restraint is typically unpopular politically; it alienates voters by cutting programs or by raising taxes. Such sentiment is currently reflected in the political frays over balancing the federal budget.

Monetary restraint is also costly because of its impact on the housing industry and business investment. Recent record-high interest rates were evidence of the application of monetary restraint.

Has fiscal policy abated or abetted inflation? There is little doubt that the record of fiscal policy over the last 15 years gives one little confidence in its responsible use by the federal government as a stabilizing macro-economic tool.

Washington politicians have demonstrated a remarkable propensity to instigate additional spending or tax cuts in times of recession, but unfortunately there has existed an even more remarkable reluctance to instigate spending or tax cuts and tax increases when appropriate to dampen inflation.

The record of the federal government during President Carter's term is not substantially better, although Congress should shoulder much of the blame.

Despite recognition of the need for fiscal restraint and the long lags with which such policies operate, fiscal policy was increasingly expansionary until 1978.

During the past two years, there has been a gradual tightening of fiscal policy back to pre-Carter levels — primarily through the impact of inflation and economic growth on tax revenues.

This belated use of fiscal restraint in fighting inflation has placed conflicting pressures on monetary authorities.

On the one hand, large government deficits have caused greater upward pressure on interest rates with the threat of "crowding out" private borrowers.

Prior to last October, the Federal Reserve frequently accommodated this demand for credit by increasing the money supply to meet interest rate targets.

On the other hand, the absence of sufficient fiscal restraint has placed more pressure on the monetary authorities to undertake the fight against inflation single-handedly.

In October 1979, the Fed committed itself publicly to the battle against inflation and abandoned its interest rate targets.

Thus, while the federal government should certainly not be held solely responsible for inflation, federal government budgets have contributed to the inflationary pressures experienced by the economy.

In part, such policies were well-intentioned efforts to forestall the impact of higher energy prices on employment, to restrain workers, and to preserve our cities. But, not being able to choose among these goals, the fruit of our efforts is increased inflation.

Can fiscal policy be used to reduce the severity of our current economic problems? Certainly.

The more interesting question is: Will fiscal policy be used in this fashion? Political pressures against fiscal restraint will be severe.

As the recession continues, there will be increased discussion of a general tax cut. It is unlikely that Congress will resist.

Deploable productivity performance and lagging capital investment cry for policies which will improve the investment climate. To undertake such policies, we should:

A. Restrain government spending and permit only those tax cuts designed to increase incentives to save and to invest. Even these tax cuts must be undertaken in such a way as to avoid large budget deficits.

B. As inflation subsides, more relaxed monetary policy should be allowed to take the lead in the economic expansion, encouraging investment.

Given the current age demographics, a return to more reasonable credit conditions would restore demand in the housing industry.

As the housing industry recovers, there would be corresponding recoveries in sales of consumer durables.

From these seeds, a stable economic expansion without inflation could ensue, but only if credit expansion is accomplished by fiscal restraint.

A harsh scenario? What about the poor? What about the elderly?

What will happen to our central cities without generous access to the federal coffers? Realistically, such broad social goals cannot be achieved unless there is a stable economic growth. The only way to give everyone more pie is to increase the size of the pie.

It is fruitless to fight over how to slice a shrinking pie when the pie itself can be made larger. To do this, we must have more investment, increased productivity, and technological advance.

At this time, achievement of these goals would be facilitated by fiscal restraint.

(Elliott is an assistant professor in the department of economics of the Southern Illinois University School of Business. His opinions are his own and do not necessarily reflect the opinions of the faculty or staff of SIUE.)

(His paper on fiscal restraint was presented at a public forum where eight members of the university's department of economics faculty discussed policies for controlling inflation.)

Downtown revitalization plans encouraged by state

The downtown areas of five Illinois cities will be the focus of a unique and intense revitalization program if the state is among the six selected to participate in the National Main Street Center (NMSC).

Nine public and private organizations have joined together to create NMSC to aid downtown revitalization in the nation's smaller communities.

Illinois cities with a population of 1,000 to 50,000 wishing to participate in NMSC may obtain complete application instruction material from newspapers, radio and television stations.

Application instructions may also be obtained from John Carpenter, Illinois Department of Commerce and Community Affairs (DCCA), 22 S. College St., Springfield 62706 (217-782-7500), or Susan Affleck-Childs, DCCA, 160 N. LaSalle St., 11th Floor, Chicago 60606 (312-782-8500).

The application deadline is June 26.

The names of the five cities submitted to NMSC by Illinois will be announced on July 3, and DCCA personnel will begin work with the cities on Oct. 1 if Illinois is chosen as a participating state by the national project.

"Selected Illinois cities will have a special status," John W. Castle, DCCA director, said, "and will be able to draw more quickly on all available federal, state and private mechanisms for downtown revitalization and economic development."

"DCCA will provide intense technical support to the five selected communities and the NMSC will provide a broad range of development assistance through its nationwide public and private development network."

"Downtown revitalization has long been an ongoing objective of DCCA," Castle said, "and the techniques and programs developed for these five 'target' cities in the NMSC project can later be applied to communities throughout Illinois."

Initial NMSC activities are being administered by the International Downtown Executives Association at the request of the National Trust for Historic Preservation.

Other public and private agencies involved in NMSC include the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development, the U.S. Department of Transportation, the White House Interagency Coordinating Council, the Farmers' Home Administration, the Economic Development Administration, the National Endowment for the Arts and the Council of State Community Affairs Agencies.

Local review of accuracy of census begins

A major new effort by the Bureau of the Census and top officials of the nation's communities is under way to help assure the most accurate and complete count possible in the 1980 Census of Population and Housing.

Census Bureau Director Vincent P. Barabba announced the start of the Local Review Program at a press conference in the Bureau's Suitland, Md., headquarters. A local review meeting is being held in the Quad-Cities this week.

The program will enable officials to check the accuracy and completeness of housing and population counts provided to them by the Census Bureau.

Local governments then will have the opportunity to point out possible problems for review and correction, as needed, before the 409 temporary census district offices close.

Barabba said the program was initiated "in the belief that review by local officials before census offices close will contribute significantly to the accuracy and success of the census."

"We have been working closely with these officials since early last year in preparing for this program. Technical manuals have been sent to the nation's 39,500 local governments — cities, counties and townships — and Bureau staff people have conducted workshops for local officials."

In late April and early May, detailed instruction booklets and packages of census maps were sent to the highest elected official of each of the 39,500 cities.

The officials will use these materials as a basis for summarizing their own population and housing estimates so that they can be compared with the Census Bureau's counts. Most local governments will receive these counts this month.

"The Local Review Program is a massive undertaking which has not been attempted formally in any previous census," Barabba said.

"While its success will ultimately depend on the cooperation of local officials, the Census Bureau is committed to reviewing potential problems uncovered by the local officials' reviews of our counts."

"In order for the bureau to review the areas where there are problems, detailed supportive evidence must be provided to the bureau by the local governments."

"This documentation will be required before any detailed rechecking can be done. It will not be possible for the bureau to recheck an area solely on a personal feeling that a count is too low or too high."

Among the types of evidence local officials are expected to use to support their estimates are:

1. Residential building and demolition permits.
 2. Residential utility (electricity, telephone, water) connections.
 3. Aerial photos, field surveys, and land-use maps.
 4. Tax assessor records.
- The local governments will have an average of four weeks to get ready for the review and two weeks to comment on the bureau's counts.

The temporary census offices will remain open up to six weeks in order to complete the checking of these counts.

During the last census in 1970, some local government complaints about the counts could not be investigated fully because the governments often did not have clear evidence of alleged mistakes, and the concerns were raised after the temporary census offices had already closed.

Local officials are concerned with the accuracy of the census of their communities for several reasons.

A Congressional apportionment is based on the census under the Constitution (Article 1, Section 2).

In the last several decades, courts have ruled that election districts for state and local representation must be based on the one-person, one-vote principle. Census statistics provide the basis for redrawing these state and local electoral district boundaries.

B. The importance of census results to state and local government budgets has grown in recent years.

Over 100 federal government aid programs — including the general revenue sharing program — use (in whole or in part) census statistics as the basis for distribution of approximately $50 billion a year to state and local governments.

An accurate census count is essential for a fair distribution of these funds on the basis of population and other factors.

Burglar gets loot ready

William J. Laird, 2960 Grand Ave., arrived home Sunday and saw a light inside the dwelling. A small glass pane in the front door had been broken and the door was unlocked.

The house had been ransacked and items were stacked at a rear door, apparently ready to be carried outside.

The only item missing was a portable television valued at $200. It was theorized the burglar may have left the house upon hearing the owner return.

of census questionnaires, official final results are scheduled to be released on a state-by-state basis beginning this fall.

3-year GC Steel contract; American Steel still on 4-day week; meetings scarce in 11-week strike

Just as any war that a person doesn't survive to see the end of, any economic recession that costs an individual his job—or the prospect of a job—might as well be a full-fledged depression. For many Quad-Cityans, 1980 is beginning to look a lot like the 1930s.

But there are some silver linings. And there is hope of a further brightening of the dark outlook a bit later in the year.

A big plus occurring Tuesday night was the reaching of a three-year contract agreement by the United Steelworkers of America and Granite City Steel. Monetary and benefit improvements had been negotiated during the spring at Pittsburgh, and the local talks then resolved various issues applying specifically to the plant here.

Order books remain lean, but 3,700 continue to work at Granite City Steel, with another 900 on layoffs.

American Steel Foundries has had to limit its work week to four days, for the past few weeks, but is still employing 1,400—and hoping for an upturn in railroad freight car orders as the high interest level subsides.

Multiple problems face the A. O. Smith Corp. auto frame plant. Current orders are slim, and in a couple of years auto manufacturers plan to end their use of the kind of frames produced here. Meanwhile, a strike has ended its eleven-week meetings to talk about the issues have been few and far between lately.

Without taking sides in the issues at Smith, a growing number of citizens is urging that regular negotiating sessions be held; there is nothing to be lost, and perhaps much to be gained, from such talks.

Everything possible needs to be done by all parties to expedite good-faith bargaining. Delay—especially a delay marked by inaction rather than concerted effort—can harm everyone, including the entire community and region.

New projections by the Illinois Job Service indicate potential 1980 annual average unemployment of 10 percent in Madison County and up to 14 percent in Granite City. Alderman Paul Bowler noted this week. And the Smith dispute could add to those gloomy unemployment statistics.

Dark clouds...some silver linings...and much hardship seem as inextricably related to mid-1980 as the Iranian hostage crisis. But Quad-Cityans through direct action can do something about some of the homefront problems, even if they continue to feel frustrated about foreign developments.

Social Security payments going to prison inmates

Press-Record Bureau — Public confidence in the Social Security system, already undermined by desperation increases in the welfare tax that funds benefit payments, is further eroded by the "Son of Sam" fiasco.

A New York City newspaper has reported that convicted David Berkowitz is receiving disability payments of more than $300 a month under the Social Security program.

Government officials said the payments had been approved due to Berkowitz' inability to hold a job because of mental illness.

Berkowitz is serving a 315-year prison sentence for six slayings in New York City. His incarceration also affects his ability to get a job.

According to Rep. William Whitehurst, a Virginia Republican investigating the system, similar payments to prison inmates throughout the country may cost as much as $60 million a year.

The Social Security System has been loaded over the years with obligations far in excess of the original goals of the retirement plan. The burden is growing enough without questionable benefits such as those going to "Son of Sam."

GC woman wounded in tavern shooting

Judy Theis, 18, of Granite City, is in satisfactory condition today at St. Mary's Hospital, East St. Louis, with a gunshot wound to the stomach, suffered in a shootout at a Washington Park tavern at 11:45 p.m. Monday.

The Granite City woman was one of three people suffering gunshot wounds in the shooting at Whitey's Tavern, 4818 Bankers, near Miss Theis, who was struck by a .45 caliber bullet, was listed in serious condition earlier this week. Washington Park police said today an investigation is continuing and no charges have yet been filed.

Communication is Pennell topic

Ron Pennell, chairman of the Speech and Drama Department of Granite City High School South and a Belleville Area College instructor, was guest speaker for the newly-formed Southern Illinois Divorced and Separated Catholics Group. The organization also encompasses widowed and remarried Catholics.

Pennell spoke on self-communication, stressing that relationships with others are "only a reflection of our attitude toward ourselves." The goal in communication is to become non-judgmental, honest and mature, he added.

The group meets on the second and fourth Wednesdays. Each meeting consists of either a speaker or "rap session" and a social hour. Baby sitters are available free of charge.

There are several social events planned within the group and with similar organizations in the St. Louis area.

The next meeting will be at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, June 25, in Eckhardt Hall, St. Boniface Church, 128 N. Buchanan, Belleville. The discussion topic is "Self-Awareness — Where Am I Going?"

involved still are unable to make statements, an officer explained.

The most seriously wounded was Michael H. Hamilton, 44, of Red Bud, who remains in poor condition at St. Mary's Hospital. He had three .22 caliber gunshot wounds in the lower chest and two .45 caliber wounds in the legs.

In fair condition Tuesday at St. Mary's were Robert Lakin, 35, of O'Fallon, who was shot in the shoulder, and Brian Hamilton, 20, of DuPont, nephew of Michael Hamilton, who suffered head injuries, apparently from a beating shortly after the shooting.

The dispute is believed to have started after Lakin walked up to a table where the Hamiltons and Miss Theis were sitting with several other people.

Investigators are checking several accounts of the incident, police said today. One report under investigation, states a person at the table may have fired a shot that struck Lakin in the shoulder, and Lakin returned the fire.

Medical personnel computer workshop

A computer workshop for medical personnel will be held at Belleville Area College on Tuesday, June 24, in the theater.

There will be two sessions that day. The first will begin at 9 a.m. and conclude at noon. The second session will begin at 1 p.m. and end at 4 p.m.

Mel Carney, Xerox Corporation representative, will present a hands-on demonstration of the computer.

Interested persons may register for either session by sending a check for $4, made payable to the St. Clair County Medical Assistants, in care of Rose Hall, Belleville Area College, 2500 Carlyle Road. Registration is limited to 25 persons per session.

Amvets Auxiliary marks Father's Day

Amvets Auxiliary 51 observed Father's Day during the weekend with a dinner served to 22 members and guests at the Amvets Post Home, 5100 Lakeview Drive. Arrangements for the event were made last week at a meeting conducted by

Awards at Lions dinner June 30

The fourth annual Lions Club of Pontoon Beach community awards dinner and officers' installation will take place at 6 p.m. Monday, June 30, at the Lions Den II, 3901 Lake Drive. The reservation deadline is June 23.

There will be awards to Lions members, Long Lake firemen and junior firemen, Pontoon Beach citizens of the year, and recipients of special appreciation awards.

Charge woman after argument

Ginger G. Hamlett, 28, of 2301 Nameoki Road, Lot 12, was charged with battery following an incident at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday in which she is alleged to have struck Christopher Miller, 2301 Nameoki Road, causing her to fall to the ground.

Mrs. Hamlett is alleged to have thrown rocks at the Miller children and called the children and their mother obscene names.

Mrs. Hamlett, who was released on payment of a $35 cash bond, alleged Mrs. Miller used obscene language toward her children, she was advised to sign a complaint.

OPENS CAR TRUNK

Kenneth Dalton, 2604 Missouri Ave., said someone forced open the trunk of his car, parked in the driveway, stole a steel belted radial tire worth $95, a 91-piece tool set, an eight-piece set of crescent wrenches, $200 flashlight, a Coleman cooler and a 21-piece socket set.

Glenda Brockman, president.

Presentation of a hair shampooer for use by patients in the Hospice program at 3 p.m. Monday, and attendance at Recognition Day at John Cochran Veterans' Hospital, St. Louis, at 1:30 p.m. Friday, also were planned.

Mrs. Brockman said canned goods and staple items are being collected for donation to the senior citizens program at St. Joseph Catholic Church, an ongoing project of the unit.

It was announced that a memorial fund has been established by the Illinois Amvets in tribute to Kenneth Hall of Mount Vernon, immediate past state commander, who died in an accident two months ago near Mount Vernon.

Pontoon Beach donated a $25 donation to the fund. Mr. Hall was a frequent visitor at the local post home.

A bake sale to benefit Hospice was discussed and reports were heard concerning the recovery from illnesses of Jenny Kidwell, Dorothy McIlvoy and Donnie Jones.

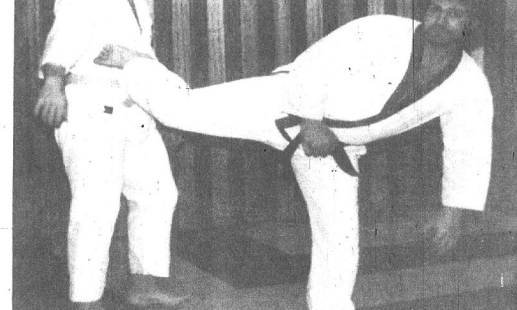

Youth on bike exposes self

A Granite City woman waiting for her husband outside National Food Store at Madison Avenue and Nameoki Road at 5:45 p.m. Tuesday, said a youth rode past on a bicycle and exposed himself to her.

He was about 17 years old with light brown or blond hair, ear length, and wearing black shorts and a tan shirt, she told police.

CAMERA STOLEN

A $200 movie camera and a $150 telephone were stolen from the home of James Hilleman, 2258 Grand Ave., during a burglary last week. A lock on the door was forced open, damaging the door frame. All rooms were searched.

GOSPEL MESSAGE is presented by Glen Masters (left), a black belt karate expert, and Mark Cruse, a karate student, Cruse, 877-5175, is arranging for their appearance before church groups. In addition to karate demonstrations, Masters, an ordained Southern Baptist minister who directs Calvary Baptist Royal Ambassadors, gives Bible messages. Janet Fox, Kim Smith, Maryemily Wilson and pianist Barb Glowacki present gospel singing.

Sacred Heart Sr. Citizen Club elects

The Senior Citizens Club of Sacred Heart Church held an installation of new officers at a regular business meeting. The following officers were installed by the Rev. James Shortal:

President, Helen Harshany; vice-president, Irene Argelan; secretary, Elizabeth McCoy; and treasurer, Marie Stanek.

Plans were finalized for the club's annual covered dish picnic at Wilson Park on July 21. After the meeting, refreshments were served to 30 members. Then, color slides taken by Henry Heilrich in Australia were shown.

Winners of prizes were Irma Marti, Minnie Grob and Elsie Hawk. The next regular meeting will be Sept. 15.

ONK'S DRIVE-IN LIQUOR IT'S QUICKER!

RANSACK HOUSE

Bertie Curtis, 2418 E. 25th St., reported at 8:30 p.m. Wednesday that a burglar had ransacked the dwelling, but nothing appeared to be missing. Pry marks were noted on the front door which was secured, however, when she returned home.

AUTO BURGLARY

Jerry Warren, 2705 Marshall Ave., discovered that while his car was parked in his driveway, between 12:10 a.m. and 10 a.m. Saturday, an AM-FM Pioneer Super Tuner, valued at $219, was stolen from inside the vehicle.

WINDOWS SMASHED

Five storm windows were smashed with pellets fired from a gun at Calvary Baptist Church, 3000 Washington Ave., it was reported at 11:20 p.m. Thursday.

TAKES FAN BACK

Clarence Haynes, 4205 Kirkpatrick Homes, told police at 1:55 p.m. Monday that a man from whom he had purchased an electric fan for $25 two days earlier came to his home at 1:55 p.m. Monday, demanded the fan back and refused to give Haynes the $5 he had paid.

AUTO BURNED

An auto owned by George Rivers Sr., 112 Lee Wright Homes, Venice, was found burned on the riverfront in Venice at 3:45 a.m. Wednesday. The auto had been stolen from near his residence.

ICE CREAM STOLEN

A quantity of ice cream was stolen from a cooler located outside the Weatherstone Store, 2300 Washington Ave., it was reported by William Sage at 3:50 p.m. Tuesday. A lock on the cooler was pried off, he said.

News notes

The bus undercover police surveillance program led to 1,473 arrests this year, through June 14, compared to 1,061 in all of 1979. Most of the arrests were for smoking, drinking or peace disturbance. Some related to robberies, property destruction and possession of drugs or weapons.

Public meetings to seek a consensus on regional goals and development projects will be held Tuesday, June 24, from 5 p.m. to 7 p.m. and Thursday, June 26, from 8:30 a.m. to 11 a.m., both at the St. Louis Conservatory for the Arts, 560 Trinity at Delmar, across from the City Hall in University City.

The Illinois House approved 12-12 Tuesday a bill to stimulate auto sales by increasing finance charge ceilings from 16.66 to 23.16 percent, through December 1981.

SIU Chancellor Kenneth A. Shaw will address the annual dinner of the Tri-City Chapter, American Red Cross, at 7 p.m. Friday, July 18, at the Granite City Township Hall.

The Ill. House voted 95-59 Wednesday to continue current financing of bus subsidies in Madison, St. Clair and Monroe counties, and defeated 80-42 a plan to require referendum approval to continue existing levels of bus service.

Illinois voters need to intensify its enforcement of the 55 miles per hour speed limit or lose part of its federal Arrangements for the annual dinner of the Tri-City Chapter, American Red Cross, at 7 p.m. Friday, July 18, at the Granite City Township Hall.

A $2 million label suit by Dr. Thwan Han of Granite City against former Illinois Comptroller Michael Bakalis was postponed Monday until next Monday due to the death Sunday of the defendant's father, John Bakalis, 80, of Chicago. Funeral services are being held today.

Former resident pleads innocent

Charles R. Call, 38, of DuPont, formerly of Granite City, was taken into custody at St. Clair County Jail at 3:50 p.m. Monday by Granite City detectives on a warrant alleging theft. The charge resulted from an incident occurring here in October 1979.

Call pleaded innocent in an appearance before a judge at 4:50 p.m. Monday. Bond was set at $300 cash.

A mittimus was issued and Call was transferred to Madison County Jail at 4:30 a.m. Tuesday by sheriff's deputies.

STILL SOME OPENINGS Organizations wishing to participate with a booth in the Madison Business Association (MBA) annual Alpine Days Sale, Friday, July 11 from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. and again Saturday, July 12, from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. are asked to contact Wayne Scannell at 432-7116. The MBA will furnish space at the corner of Third Street and Madison Avenue, Madison. The deadline for signing up to participate is 5 p.m. Monday, July 7.

Handicraft sales, white elephant items, rummage items and flea market type booths are all welcome, according to Scannell, but advanced registration must be made.

1940 state champions were pretty special

Press-Record

Sports

GRANITE CITY (ILL.) PRESS-RECORD, Thursday, June 19, 1980—23

NOTE: The 1940 Granite City High School basketball team — the state champions — will reunite next month at a Lincoln Place Athletic Club reunion. The following is the first in a series of articles about the state champs.

By PETER HAYES
Sports Editor
of the Press-Record
GRANITE CITY — Prather, Grigsby, Namecki. All familiar names to Granite Cityans. All are District 10 schools. Namecki is also a busy thoroughfare. But there was a time when they were much more.

It was a time when Prather and Grigsby were the names of important people in the community. Prather and Grigsby Junior High weren't even dreamed of yet. Namecki Road ran through the village of Namecki. It was a time when the Great Depression was a reality. World War Two was yet to come for us. Pearl Harbor was no more than a far away port.

It was 1940. Granite City was much smaller then. But oh, how Granite City beamed in '40! It was a proud community of 25,000. But it was an even smaller portion of Granite that was about to burst its buttons. A separate community within the boundaries of Granite City.

Lincoln Place. Where Granite City began. It's known as West Granite to some now. But to others, it will always be Lincoln Place. The REAL Granite.

The reason for all that pride in such a bleak period of history was a small group of boys that captured the heart of Illinois in March of 1940. They were known as the Happy Warriors.

They were the state basketball champions.

The 1940 Granite City High School Happy Warriors (the "Happy" has long since been dropped) won the 1940 Illinois High School Association basketball championship. It was Granite City's first (and only) state basketball championship.

But the inscription on the state championship trophy read "Granite City Township High School" only because Lincoln Place had no high school. You see, most of the players on that 1940 title squad were from Lincoln Place.

The names are still familiar to many...Hagopian, Mouridian, Markakrian, Hoff, Efimoff, Daniels, Gages, Mueller, Parsaghatian.

And Phillip. Phillip, Andy Phillip. One of the best players ever to play basketball in Illinois. He went on to become the hub of the famous University of Illinois "Whiz Kids" and later played professional basketball with the old Chicago Zephyrs of the National Basketball Association. His performance in the finals at Champaign is still talked about by old-timers.

The 1940 Happy Warriors will be getting back together soon. July 11-13 they will be the honored guests during the annual Lincoln Place Athletic Club Reunion. Every member of the team will be here. Head coach Byron Bozarth died five years ago in Manfield, Ohio, but his widow may return for the reunion.

There will be many different celebrations during the reunion, including a motorcade from Granite City High School (South) to Lincoln Place, Sunday July 13. Just like the one 40 years ago after the Warriors came back with the big trophy from Champaign.

The boy-warriors are all men now. They live in various places all over the country now. But they'll be coming back next month.

Late home run dooms Tri-City

By KEVIN ALLEN
of the Press-Record
GRANITE CITY — Things were looking mighty rosy when Tri-City Post 113's American Legion baseball team went on a run up on Edwardsville last night.

It was the bottom of the sixth when Tri-City scored its run — the only one of the game at the time.

Then it was Edwardsville's turn. Or more precisely, Phil Conreux's turn.

Conreux's top-of-the-seventh home run — a shot over the left field fence — drove Bob Manville home ahead of him and gave Edwardsville a 2-1 lead.

Edwardsville went on to score three more times in the seventh, but Conreux's shot was really all it needed.

Edwardsville won 4-1. "It's a shocker," Tri-City coach Eldon Warfield said of the last-minute home run.

"That really took the wind out of us."

DeGonia scored from second on the hit after he had advanced on a wild pitch.

Rich Daily then moved Linhart to third with a sacrifice bunt, but the run died there when, with only one out, Tri-City failed to deliver even a ball hit out of the infield.

Although at the time the problem didn't seem particularly grievous — what with, finally, a one-run lead — Tri-City's failure to produce runs with men on base turned out to be its downfall.

"It's the same old problem," Warfield said. "We've hit the ball good almost every game, but we've had trouble driving in runs."

Tri-City stranded nine runners in the game. Seven of those came in the first four innings.

On the other hand, Edwardsville wasn't exactly wearing a path to the plate either. It left runners on base in each of the first three innings, and stranded six in the game.

The total would have been even higher if not for Tri-City catcher Rich Cope and his accurate throwing.

Cope cut down two Edwardsville runners stealing, and picked off another at second.

"Cope's really coming around," Warfield said. "Right now he's the best catcher we've got. We knew it was just a matter of time before he took over behind the plate."

Even Cope's arm couldn't stop Edwardsville in the seventh, though. Conreux saw to that.

After the home run spoiled Tri-City pitcher Kevin Cripp's three-hit shut out, nothing seemed to stop Edwardsville.

An error on a ball hit by Tim Clawson, who followed Conreux to the plate, put a runner at second. Rich Fletcher's walk made it first and second. Tim Milner's sacrifice bunt advanced the runners to scoring position.

And an intentional walk to Greg Steiner loaded the bases.

Fairview over Glen Carbon

By TOM SCHOCKER
for the Press-Record

GRANITE CITY — Glen Carbon head coach Art Jovi calmly sat back as his American Legion squad dropped a District 21 game to Fairview Heights, 5-3 Monday.

But in an unusual occurrence he was forced to make a tough managerial decision. Jerry Coyle started on the hill for Glen Carbon. However his lack of pitching experience was causing him trouble. "This is the first time he has pitched since last year," said Jovi. "I didn't want to throw him any further. It might have hurt his arm."

Coyle was doing a fine job through two innings allowing only two hits while throwing a shutout. But control problems got the best of him in the third. Fairview touched the young southpaw for three tallies. His situation wasn't helped when Glen Carbon booted two balls for errors in that inning. Jovi still sat and watched. "Our regular starter didn't show up," said Jovi. "And I couldn't pitch Keith Burton because of an injury to his finger."

Despite problems, the lefty was breezing through the fourth until Fairview's Chris Castiller blasted a pitch. The ball carried, making left-fielder Rick Buer reel for the fence. However he ran out of room and the ball dropped for a solo home run.

That was all Jovi could see. When the fifth frame opened up, Glen Carbon had a new pitcher. But where could a reliever be found? Glen Carbon had nine players in attendance and one on the bench — Burton. "We just didn't have enough guys," said Jovi. So in a rare switch he went to his shortstop Mike Robertson. "We didn't have anyone else," said Jovi. "He was our last resort."

A mistake? Hardly. Robertson turned his graceful infielder's motion to that of a crafty relief hurler.

Striking out two batters, he eventually gave up a run in the final frame. In lieu of this fact still only allowed three hits in three innings of work. "He really hasn't been touched in relief," said Jovi. "We've used him three times now. It has worked out nice."

On the other side of the diamond, Fairview received a strong starter — Ken Knebelkamp. So good, in fact, that Glen Carbon had to rely on a couple of errors to get two of its runs.

Saved in the second inning, Knebelkamp was backed up with a fine defensive effort. Glen Carbon's Ed Burns lead off with a single and stole second. But when he tried to score on Coyle's base hit, Burns was nailed at home plate on a perfect throw from the centerfielder.

Glen Carbon finally broke Knebelkamp's shutout when Rick Bruce and Robertson scored after both had singled. "We didn't get the hits when we needed it," said Jovi. Glen Carbon didn't get two of its runs.

Robertson tried to spark some sort of rally in the seventh. Using his new form as a switch hitter, he lifted a deep fly ball to left field, batting from the left side caused the ball to hook but it barely curled around the foul pole for a home run. The shot had plenty of height and would have probably cleared the fence in any part of the field.

The blast inspired Tom Greco as he cracked a single. However no one could kindle the flame needed to start a comeback rally.

Moore, Archer to be at Tri-City speedway

By JEFF EAVES
for the Press-Record

GRANITE CITY — Defending NDRA (National Dirt Racing Association) champion and point leader Larry Moore of Dayton, Ohio, and former champion Leon Archer of Griffin, Ga., are expected to be on hand this Friday and Saturday nights for the first annual Bopp Chassis 100 mile model stock car race at the Tri-City Speedway.

Moore finished second to Tom Helfrich of Haubstadt, Ind., in the AAA Transmision 100 in March at Phoenix City, Ala. and placed second to Freddie Smith of Kings Mountain, N.C., in the last 100-lap NDRA race held at Wytheville, Va., two weeks ago.

May. Helfrich and Hobbs are in the third and fourth place positions in the NDRA point standings.

Also to be expected is Rodney Combs of Loveland, Ohio, the current point leader in the tough MOSS late model series in Ohio. Last week Combs traveled to Davenport, Ia. and won the Iowa State Dirt Track championship, a 100-lap event. The next evening Combs traveled to Cedar Rapids and won the Miller 100 at the Hawkeye Downs. Jerry Inmon of Bruce, Miss., the 1979 Mississippi state champion, will also be on hand at the speedway along with Fulmer Lance of Washington, Ga., Billy Clanton of River Hill, Ga., Buck Simmons of Chatworth, Ga., Larry Phillips of Springfield, Mo. and from Kings Mountain, N.C. Freddie Smith who has two 100-lap races to his credit on the NDRA circuit this year with wins at Wytheville, Va., and Rome, Ga.

Kevin Gundaker of St. Louis, Mo., who is the point leader at the speedway and has five feature wins so far this year will have to drive the very best he can if he wants to defeat the southern drivers.

Promoter Gil Rimel and NDRA president Robert Smawley expect over 200 cars from 26 different states to be on hand. Also, Rimel says, "Not only the biggest race in the many years of the speedways history it will also pay a record breaking purse of over $30,000."

Tri-City whips Alton Legion

By TOM SCHOCKER
for the Press-Record

ALTON — Eldon Warfield is in his first year as head coach of the Tri-City American Legion baseball team. After its stunning 8-5 victory over Alton Tuesday, you would have thought Warfield had been coaching his squad a lot longer.

"We did what we had to do to win," said Warfield. Tri-City accomplished "exactly that, mostly because of the coaching knowledge possessed by Warfield. You can't teach a coach new tricks, but he can remember the old ones."

Although Warfield was not the coach of Tri-City last summer he did remember how it beat Alton. With that knowledge, Tri-City caused Alton to mishandle the ball six times, which highlighted by a 5-run outburst in the third.

Tri-City, under Warfield's directions, laid down four perfect bunts causing Alton all kinds of problems. "That's the way they beat 'em last year," said Warfield. Alton obviously didn't learn the first time.

Taking a 1-1 tie into the third frame, Warfield instituted his strategy. Steve Ficker led off the inning with a solid single to center. Kevin Sykes followed with a bunt, but an error was recorded when the pitcher failed to handle the ball cleanly. Bob Batey added to Alton's problems with another bunt. The results were the same.

The bases now loaded saw Rich Cope ground into a routine force out at the plate. But as fate would have it, the shortstop threw the ball away and Tri-City had opened up a 3-1 margin. It did not stop there, though. Bob Stegemeier then ripped a single and two more runs trotted home. To cap off all the disastrous things happening to Alton, Stegemeier came around to score when the catcher was charged with a passed ball. It was to be the eventual winning run. "We didn't execute in the field," said Alton head coach Curt Hagen. "If we would have would have won the ball game."

Tri-City was bound and determined to teach Alton a lesson. Pulling the same stunt in the fifth inning, it recorded two additional tallies. Cope Jed off the frame as he bunted his way on base with a single. Bob Stegemeier got into the act, dropping a fourth bunt in front of the pitching mound. You guessed it. Error number three for the pitcher and fifth on the team. "We haven't had this part of our defense ironed out," said Hagen. "Our infield is not set as of yet."

The sixth and final mistake came about as George Jarvis' grounder was about to find its way to second when he walked. However the second baseball threw the ball away. Warfield then got a little to greedy having Ficker lay down a sacrifice bunt with two outs. "Can you believe that?" said Warfield. "It's probably the first time in the history of baseball that there was a sacrifice bunt with two outs. But I did it because I knew Alton couldn't handle it." Coach Hagen was greeted with a treat. The catcher threw Ficker out at first cleanly. When asked if he was satisfied with the way his team executed, Warfield replied, "Yeah. We won didn't we. We did the job we knew we could."

Alton did manage to regain some of its pride rattling starting pitcher John Vrenick for three runs in the fifth. It put runners in scoring position in the next two frames but the Tri-City defense met the challenge head on and came away with a triumph. "The game is never over until the final out," said Warfield. "They had some good sticks. We are at the point in the league where we have to win every game we can. That's about all I can say. We won and I'm happy."

play after forcing an Alton runner at second Tuesday in Tri-City's 8-5 victory.

Locals honored

AURORA, Ill. — Steve Spencer, Jim Louis and Gerald Hency, all of Granite City, were among 115 Aurora College athletes recently honored at a sports awards banquet.

Head soccer coach Rick Kilps presented major awards to Louis and Spencer for their participation on the varsity soccer team, while Hency received a major award for the junior varsity soccer team.

A junior, Louis is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James C. Louis of 2355 Pontoon Road, Granite City. Spencer, a freshman, is the son of Mr.

an Mrs. Kenneth Spencer of 3204 Newell Drive, Granite City. Hency, a sophomore, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Garold Hency of 2208 E. 24th Street, Granite City.

The Aurora College Spartans ended the season with their best record ever (11-3-1), their fifth straight conference championship and the summer six NCAA ranking in the Far-West Region (from Ohio to California) among Division II schools. Seven school records were broken and two were tied.

Aurora College is a four-year school of liberal arts located 40 miles west of Chicago.

Hole-in-one

GC town levy $608,706

By HARRY BARNES
of the Press-Record
A 1980 tax levy totaling $608,706 was approved by the Granite City Town Board Tuesday night following approval of a new budget projecting township expenditures of $784,476 during the 1980-81 fiscal year.

The tax levy calls for an extension of $290,106 in the town fund, $241,600 in the general assistance fund and $68,000 in the municipal retirement fund.

Approval of the new budget followed a public hearing at 7 p.m. in which the appropriation was presented for public comment. The hearing was sparsely attended by only six persons. Two changes were made on a motion by William Schooley, township attorney, to increase the budget for insurance from $15,000 to $20,000 and to change from two to three the number of drivers for the senior citizen van for a $30,000 appropriation. There was no change in the amount of money involved for the drivers.

In discussion that preceded board action on the budget, Alderman Sam Whitmer asked if the budget included an appropriation for payment of rent for the offices of Township Assessor Von Dee Cruse which were moved late last year in the basement of the city hall.

Township Supervisor Nelson Hagnauer who attended the Town Board meeting, replied that the budget includes a $6,400 item to be used for rental of $4,400 during the fiscal year from March 1 this year to Feb. 28, 1981.

Hagnauer said the remaining $2,000 is intended for payment of back rent for last year. He said at the time the assessor's office was moved into the city hall, there was no provision in the previous budget for such rental payments.

Hagnauer explained that the federal revenue sharing budget of $181,010 also includes $12,000 for the Granite City Park District to buy playground equipment for Wilson Park or the park in West Granite City. In addition, he said, the budget includes $10,000 for fencing at Anchorage Homes where tenants have been annoyed by bicycle riders and others.

The explanation of the contribution to the Park District came after Alderman Charles Douglas questioned the purpose of the appropriation. While Douglas said he had no objection to the purchase of park playground equipment, he cast the only negative vote against adoption of the budget. Alderman Earl Baker was absent. All other aldermen voted in favor of the budget.

The board also approved a resolution appointed Oliver Schneider certified public accountant firm to audit the township fund accounts at a cost not to exceed $5,000.

The board members also approved a resolution reappointing Schooley as township attorney at a salary of $500 per month. Douglas was the only alderman to vote against those resolutions.

At the conclusion of the Town Board action, Hagnauer thanked the board members for their cooperation with the township "in supporting township efforts to do all we can for the people of the township, which we intend to keep on doing."

The aldermen on the city council also make up the Town Board membership.

ALARM CALLS POLICE

A burglar alarm alerted the Madison police at 11 a.m. Friday to respond to the Stadium Tavern, 1301 Madison Ave., Madison, where an attempted burglary had apparently taken place. The tavern was closed. Police found a front window had been kicked out, but apparently nothing was taken.

Seek owner of Doberman

The owner of a reddish brown Doberman Pinscher that probably broke its chain and was running loose Thursday, June 12, is being asked to contact the parents of an 11-year-old Granite City boy who suffered a dog bite.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Snelson, 2306 Grand Ave., need information whether the dog has been inoculated against rabies to help their son, Kevin Pickard, avoid taking a series of anti-rabies shots.

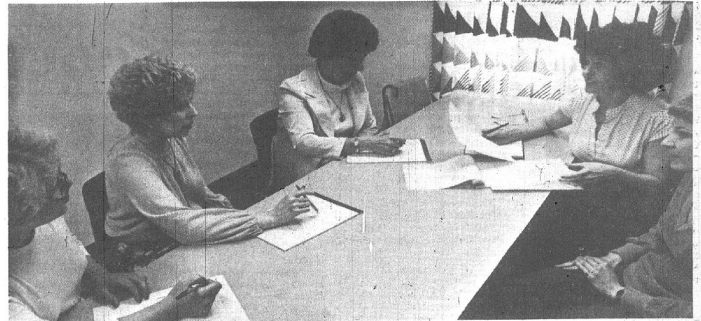

Anyone knowing the whereabouts of the dog is asked to contact the Snelson family at 877-3876 by Monday, June 23.

Kevin, who will enter Prather Junior High School next fall, was riding his bicycle on the First Assembly of God parking area at 24th Street and Madison Avenue about 5:30 p.m. Thursday.

The Doberman ran at the boy and bit the boy on the right leg, breaking the skin. The dog was described as a "standard size Doberman with a bobbed tail." It was wearing a large tan collar with a length of broken chain attached.

After the incident, the dog ran south along the alley between Madison and Grand avenues, toward 23rd Street.

Water treatment summer classes

Summer evening classes for wastewater and water treatment operators in Illinois will begin the last week in June at the Environmental Resources Training Center.

Ken Reid, program director for operations, said both classes are a continuation of spring sessions in operations and laboratory testing. As the official water operator training site for the state, ERTC offers a series of classes and workshops to train water treatment personnel to meet certification requirements.

The spring schedule includes Wastewater Treatment Operations III (WW 103), the last of a three-part series on solids, and Process Control Laboratory II, a continuation of specific test procedures for metals and other elements.

Each class meets Wednesday or Thursday evening for 11 weeks, beginning June 25 or 26. Tuition is $95.00 to $110, excluding books, earning 3.3 to 4.4 continuing education units of credit.

For additional information or to complete the required preregistration for any class, interested persons may contact: Training Coordinator, ERTC, Campus Box 75, SIUE, Edwardsville 62026, or call 692-2030.

Knocks woman to pavement

A Granite City woman walking to a bus stop along 21st Street, between Delmar and Edison avenues, enroute to work at 7 a.m. Tuesday, was knocked to the ground by a man who approached her from the rear.

The woman said the man physically molested her and she screamed loudly, but no one responded and the man then ran away.

While walking in the 2000 block of Cleveland Boulevard, she reported noticing a man apparently following her and said she had crossed the street to the other side.

The assailant was described in his early 20's, about five feet, 10 inches tall, weighing between 150 and 160 pounds, with short brown hair and wearing a T-shirt and blue jeans.

New Girl Scout awards, badges and uniforms

Mary Ellen Fischer, president of the River Bluffs Girl Scout Council, and a resident of Godfrey, attended a White House reception in Washington, D.C., last week at which first lady Rosalynn Carter presented new Girl Scout uniforms, badges and top awards.

The event marked completion of plans for a modernized Girl Scout program of "activities in step with changing times." Mrs. Orville L. Freeman, president of the Girl Scouts of the U.S.A., introduced the innovations to Mrs. Carter, honorary president of the national organization.

A framed set of 76 new proficiency badges for nine- to 11-year-old Junior Girl Scouts was presented to Mrs. Carter. Mix-and-match uniforms for teenage members were modeled by Girl Scouts from the nation's capital.

The Girl Scout Gold Award, which may be earned only by Senior Girl Scouts of high school age, and the Girl Scout Silver Award, available also to girls in the early teens, were unveiled for the first time at the White House.

Presidents of 341 Girl Scout councils across the nation were invited to the reception, along with women government officials, congresswomen and the Girl Scouts' national board of directors.

"New proficiency badges for Junior Girl Scouts include such timely topics as energy saver and computer fun," Pres. Fischer said. Girl Scouts earn these badges by completing activities they choose from a wide range of subjects and flexible requirements.

Juniors wear colorful embroidered cloth symbols of their new knowledge and skills on a shoulder sash over their uniforms.

The set of new badges will be introduced in September.

Teenage Girl Scouts may begin working toward the top Girl Scout Gold and Silver Awards this fall.

To achieve them, girls must complete a completion of interest, leadership, career exploration and service projects.

They also must demonstrate their ability and skill in the areas of goal-setting, planning, putting values into action, and relating to the community.

The new uniform is designed for "the action-packed lifestyle of teenagers today."

In tune with fashion trends of the time, mix-match coordinates consist of a bright green poly-twill A-line skirt, straight-leg pants, fitted vest and insignia sash worn with long-sleeved, tailored plaid blouse. The uniforms will be available in September.

This is the first major update of the Girl Scout program since 1963. It began in 1977 with a new handbook for six- to 11-year-old Brownie and Junior Girl Scouts entitled Worlds to Explore.

The handbook introduces girls to simple scientific experiments and career prospects for women, among other innovative features.

Careers to Explore is a workbook published last year to supplement the handbook, with activities and interviews designed to show young Girl Scouts what it's like to be a state trooper, energy scientist, train conductor and other kinds of working women.

From Dreams to Reality is a more comprehensive career education program introduced in 1978 to help 12- to 17-year-old Girl Scouts explore career opportunities ranging from astronaut to zookeeper. Self-assessment exercises in the workbook help girls find out if their dreams fit the reality of their talents and temperament. Let's Make It Happen! another workbook for teenage Girl Scouts, was published last year. It contains special interest projects on subjects as diverse as fashion, auto mechanics, energy awareness and money management.

A new handbook for teenage Girl Scouts entitled You Make the Difference is scheduled for publication this summer.

Bike-A-Thon raises $95

Organizers of this year's Cystic Fibrosis Bike-A-Thon are hopeful that the event will be larger next year, since only three determined young riders participated this year.

The three, however, were able to raise nearly $95 for fighting cystic fibrosis, an often fatal lung and digestive tract disease.

Participants were Joey Donaldson, who raised

$26.40, Aaron Colp, who raised $30.75, and Jim Colp, who topped the list with $37.50.

The funds were raised from sponsors who paid a set amount for each mile the participants rode. Each of the riders will receive a T-shirt for raising more than $25. In addition, Jim Colp, as the top money-raiser, will receive a trophy and Sheriff Emil Toffant will give him four box seat tickets to a Cardinal baseball game. The family of Joey Donaldson said he was particularly pleased with his efforts, since he is afflicted with cystic fibrosis, making it more difficult for him to ride for an extended period of time. His mother said Joey's goal was to raise $25, so he could qualify for a T-shirt, and he was able to exceed his goal.

Delayed start for old state capitol show

"Sound and Light at the Old State Capitol" in Springfield will begin its fifth season at 9 p.m. Tuesday, July 15. It was announced this week by William K. Alderfer, director of the Illinois State Historical Library, the state agency that operates the program.

The electronic production was originally scheduled to begin its 1980 season on the Saturday before Memorial Day. But delays in construction work in the underground parking garage—and on the sidewalk and fencing which surrounds the Old Capitol—forced the postponement.

"Although the sidewalk and fence work will be completed by the end of this month," Alderfer said, "the garage work will take more time."

"Because the control room for the program is located in the garage, and the construction work is creating vast amounts of dirt and dust which interfere with the delicate circuitry of the control unit, we must delay opening the show until the work is completed, the garage is cleaned, and the control unit is cleaned and adjusted—a time-consuming process."

The 45-minute program will be presented nightly except Mondays at 9, weather permitting, with the final presentation of "Sound and Light at the Old State Capitol" scheduled for the Saturday after Labor Day—Sept. 6 this year.

WINDOW FORCED
Stan Yurek, 2219 State St., told police this week that someone forced open a window at his home and stole $340 cash.

AGGRAVATED ASSAULT
Timothy L. Hughes, 22, of 2015 Apt. 7, Washington Ave., was being held Sunday morning pending the posting of $102 cash bond on a charge of aggravated assault. Hughes allegedly threatened to shoot a person at 10:30 p.m. Saturday in the 1600 block of E. 23rd St.

Cannabis possession charged

Robert M. Nikonowicz, 17, of 2548 Benton St., and Kenneth R. Waggoner, 17, of 209 Wilson Park Lane, were charged with possession of cannabis and contributing to the delinquency of a minor after they allegedly worked in Wilson Park smoking marijuana, with two other boys, ages 13 and 18, in view of a uniformed officer last week.

A policeman checking cars for city stickers at 27th and State streets said he noticed four boys seated at a table in the park, in plain view of him, passing a cigarette around and trying to hide it from his view. He called for other police cars which arrived and officers questioned the four.

A plastic bag containing 42 marijuana cigarettes, weighing 28.2 grams, was found in a hollow tree base next to the table, it was alleged.

The 13-year-old and 18-year-old were released pending investigation after Nikonowicz allegedly said they had just arrived and the marijuana was his.

As the human body ages, parts wear out; disease, too, takes a toll.

In addition, bodies are maimed and disfigured by accidents, sports and weapons.

The result, according to an article in the new issue of Science, the weekly journal of the American Association for the Advancement of Science (AAAS), is that between two million and three million artificial (or prosthetic) devices are implanted into individuals in the United States each year.

A small sample of these currently in use are being tested include artificial teeth and middle ears; electric breathing regulators; heart pacemakers; auditory and visual prostheses; and artificial hips, knees, tracheas, teeth, breasts, bladders and skin.

Since these devices are used to replace living tissue, they represent, at best, a compromise.

The article's author, Larry L. Hench of the University of Florida, points out that the principal challenge has been to produce materials that closely match the replaced part and cause minimal damage to the rest of the body.

Complications can arise when the artificial part and the human body fail to form a perfect union.

Problems which can occur when the implant and the body are not in harmony include an interference of local blood supply, formation of tumors, infection, corrosion, stress and pain.

Among the materials now being used for prostheses are stainless steel, silicon rubber, Teflon, a wide range of plastics, surgical metal, and a glass ceramic called "bioglass" which is made of the oxides of calcium, sodium, silicon and phosphorus.

Bioglass acts as a temporary substitute for bony parts of the body while it stimulates the body to produce new bone on its own. Scientists are working on three types of biomaterials (materials which can be used for prosthetic devices).

The "nearly inert" materials are those most commonly used, including false teeth and artificial joints made of plastic and metal. They are called "nearly inert" because they are able to form a sympathetic union with living tissue.

The "descriptive" materials are those which serve a temporary purpose and then are absorbed by the body, such as the material used in surgical sutures.

The newest, and perhaps most promising, are the chemically reactive materials, like bioglass. These materials form a chemical relationship with body tissue and help it to regenerate itself.

Another area in which advances are being made is in the durability of prosthetic devices.

The average lifespan for an artificial device has been seven to 10 years. As more is learned about the material the body will accept, this time frame can be lengthened.

In addition to increasing the lifetime for devices, ongoing work in this field focuses on the development of new composite materials and the adhesion properties of tissue to implanted devices.

As human life expectancy grows longer and longer, Hench points out, the field of biomaterials may be one of increasing importance.

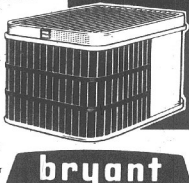

SUSTAINS INJURY
John A. Valencia, 1708 Bremen Ave., was injured Sunday when the 1977 auto he was driving struck a vehicle owned by James Johnson. The latter car was parked outside Johnson's home at 1844 Bremen Ave. Valencia said he was changing channels on his car radio when the accident occurred.

Curb aliens' welfare abuse

A measure introduced by Senator Charles H. Percy (R-Ill.) to curb large-scale abuse of the welfare system by newly-arrived legal aliens and their sponsors has been signed into law.

The new law will save American taxpayers tens of millions of dollars in "loophole" payments made to newly-arrived legal aliens under the Supplemental Security Income (SSI) program, Percy said Friday. A 1978 report of the U.S. General Accounting Office estimated that the abuse in five states alone was over $56 million a year.

"Congress has taken a decisive step to end this," Percy said. "Aliens who are properly eligible for SSI benefits will receive them. But aliens whose sponsors can afford to support them will no longer be able to take advantage of the welfare system and receive federal subsidies."

Under the Percy measure, SSI benefits will not be made available to a newly-arrived legal alien for a period of three years after entry into the U.S. if the alien's sponsor can provide support.

Present immigration law requires that certain categories of aliens be "sponsored" for admission to the U.S. if they cannot establish financial independence. The sponsor— a U.S. citizen or permanent resident— signs an affidavit of support, submitting proof of income and assets, promising that the alien will not become a public charge once admitted to this country.

In the past, a "loophole" in the immigration law allowed an alien to apply for and receive SSI payments within 30 days after arrival in the U.S., even though a sponsor had promised financial support.

Under the new law, when an alien applies for SSI benefits the sponsor's income and assets will be treated as the alien's income and assets (for a period of three years) to determine eligibility. Thus, if the sponsor can clearly afford to support the alien, SSI benefits will not be made available.

Should SSI benefit payments be made to the alien under false pretenses, the federal government could prosecute the alien, the sponsor or both. The alien and the sponsor would be liable to repay the SSI benefits.

During the initial three-year period, exceptions will be made for cases of SSI qualification for aliens who become blind or disabled after entry into the U.S. No exception will be made for age.

Exception will be made for SSI qualification for political refugees.

A political refugee is one who is unable to remain in, or return to, the country of his or her birth— either temporarily or permanently— because of political persecution. The applicant receives status as a political refugee with the concurrence of the Immigration and Naturalization Service and the State Department.

The SSI program is designed to aid the nation's aged, blind and disabled. As a joint federal-state program, SSI has annual outlays of $6 billion.

Arrested in Madison

Donald L. Griffin, 28, of 2004 Sken St., Madison, was released at 7:40 a.m. Saturday from the Madison city jail on $100 cash bond.

He faces charges of disobeying a police officer and disorderly conduct. Police were attempting to disperse a large crowd outside Darling's Tavern, 520 Madison Ave., Madison. When everyone was told to go back inside the tavern, Griffin allegedly objected.

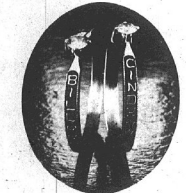

He allegedly approached the officer and said, "I'll get you when you're not working, after I see you in court." After he allegedly was told three times to go back into the tavern, Griffin was placed under arrest.

He allegedly continued to make threats toward the police and was uncooperative during booking procedures, police said.

He is scheduled to appear in court at 9 a.m. on July 18 to answer the charges.

By ADMIRAL U.S. GRANT SHARP
(Editor's note: Admiral Sharp, an Annapolis graduate in 1927, spent a 41-year career in the U.S. Navy, reaching 4-star rank in 1963. He was commander-in-chief, Pacific, from 1964 to 1968, with one million men and an 85-million-square mile area under his command. Admiral Sharp made these remarks as main speaker at a meeting of the Military Order of the World Wars.)

I am sure that all of you are as pleased as I am to hear that President Carter is taking a new approach to foreign policy. It appears that he may finally be coming to recognize the Soviet menace.

After three years of attempting to appease the Russians, he has apparently become a realist. The myth of detente is exposed. In grave tones, the president has warned the nation of the seriousness of the Soviet invasion of Afghanistan, calling it the greatest crisis since World War II.

With much fanfare, two carrier battle groups were stationed in the Indian Ocean. With more fanfare, an amphibious ready group joined them.

In his State of the Union address to Congress, the president said he would propose a strong defense budget for fiscal year 1981 because of our serious National Security situation, and to counter the growing military threat from the Soviets.

It would seem, then, that the dual crises of the Iranian hostages and the Soviet invasion of Afghanistan may have had some effect. Perhaps the president, recognizing that the American people have become aroused, will get on with the task of restoring this country's power.

But I am skeptical. I want to see those words backed up by concerted action.

We can be sure that the Soviets are listening to Carter's strong words. We can also be sure that they are skeptical — they will be very attentive to the actions that follow.

A strong buildup of our defense budget would indicate that we really mean business. That is the action that would impress them.

Now for a brief look at the international situation. To begin with, we cannot afford to minimize the dangers inherent in the Soviet invasion of Afghanistan.

The Red Army could now move into Pakistan or to the Strait of Hormuz. Air bases in Afghanistan give Soviet fighter bombers the capability to cover the strait.

More importantly, they have generated apprehension of further aggression in all countries of the Middle East, thus facilitating subversive moves in those nations.

I believe it is apparent that the Kremlin's ultimate objective is to control Middle East oil and the strategic mineral resources of Africa.

They will move toward that objective, using subversion and proxy forces by preference, with their own ground, air and naval forces poised and ready to be employed if necessary.

It is important to remember, moreover, that the Soviet power play in Afghanistan does not lessen the threat in other areas.

On the northern and central European front, for example, they have such a preponderance of force that they could probably overrun the area in 15 to 20 days before our reinforcements could get into the battle.

But most significantly, a comparison of the strategic forces of the United States and the Soviet Union gives them a clear superiority, in the opinion of most analysts.

In my opinion, that is the objective of the Soviet military buildup — not to wage a nuclear war, but to win political predominance without having a fight. When that happens, we will no longer survive as a free nation.

With those sobering thoughts in mind, I have examined the fiscal year 1981 defense budget and Mr. Carter's new five-year defense plan.

As a result of my examination, I can only view with alarm the continuing failure of the administration and conventional forces between the Soviet Union and the United States.

Our budget for defense is estimated to be 2.2 percent of the Gross National Product. In contrast, the Soviets have been spending between 11 percent and 15 percent of their GNP for arms buildup.

The Soviet military budget is currently 40 to 80 percent more than ours in real terms.

The total budget for our Navy will increase only 1.3 percent. The Navy's ship-building funds will actually decline by $1.1 billion.

Our Navy has shrunk in numbers by over 40 percent since 1969. And now we hope to establish a permanent naval presence in the Indian Ocean while maintaining over NATO and Pacific commitments.

Current force levels will not support this expansion of our strategy. The Navy should be buying 150 to 180 aircraft per year just to replace those lost to aging and normal attrition.

They have been allowed many less than that for several years, and the trend continues.

This new budget includes only 33 aircraft for carrier-based squadrons. And these are the fighting vehicles of the carriers that we are depending on in the Middle East.

Although the Marine Corps is being hailed for its critical assault role in the new rapid deployment force, it received almost a total shutdown on its requests for modernization equipment.

Purchases of F-15 fighters and A-10 attack planes for the Air Force are in reduced numbers from the 1980 budget.

Both houses of Congress are now in the process of adding to the defense budget.

The White House says that the current effort to achieve a balanced budget in fiscal year 1981 will leave the defense budget intact, but it is also talking about a reduction of about $1 billion.

The "bleeding hearts" in Congress will be looking at the defense budget as fair game when their favorite give-away programs are up for a cut.

President Carter last week both called for a defense build-up and the next day said Congress is proposing too much defense spending.

I told you earlier that I was skeptical — I want to see all the tough words emanating from Washington backed up by some actions that indicate that Mr. Carter is going to prepare the armed forces for the confrontations he keeps talking about.

Such action is not apparent to date.

What the Carter fiscal year 1981 budget and the new five-year defense plan really say is that the president is willing to concede military superiority to the Soviet Union. And you can be sure that the Soviets have reached the same conclusion.

So they will press forward with their plan for world domination, assuming that the United States will continue to make concessions — continue with a policy of appeasement.

The Russians believe that we lack the will to oppose them when the chips are down.

GC crimes show slight decline

A total of 182 major crimes in eight categories reported in Granite City during May decreased by nine below the 191 crimes reported in the same month a year ago, according to a report by Chief of Police Ronald Veizer.

While there were no homicides or forcible rape cases last month, the same as in May 1979, the number of burglary cases rose from 27 in May 1979 to 47 cases last month. The number of larceny cases fell, however, from 93 a year ago to 66 last month.

Chief Veizer reported there were two robberies last month, compared to none in May 1979, while the number of assault cases fell from 32 to 30. Auto burglaries increased by two from 24 a year ago to 26 last month, and auto thefts dropped from 15 to 11.

Police cleared 59 of the current cases and 94 other pending cases for a total of 153 cases cleared last month, compared to 60 current cases and 104 other cases cleared for a total of 164 in May 1979, according to the report.

The number of traffic arrests last month dropped substantially below those of the same month a year ago. The report showed 136 traffic arrests in May, down from 319 in the same month in 1979.

In addition, Granite City police made 132 other arrests last month for a total of 268. In May a year ago, 142 other arrests were made for a monthly total, including traffic, of 455 arrests.

Seventy-one additional charges were filed last month for a total of 339 charges, compared to 63 additional charges filed in May 1979, for a total of 518 charges a year ago.

There were no fatal accidents in the city last month, compared to one a year ago. The report shows a total of 145 traffic accidents in Granite City last month, including 30 mishaps in which 38 persons were hurt.

This compares with a total of 143 accidents a year ago, including 34 personal injury accidents in which 48 persons were hurt.

During the first five months of this year, the report shows, 683 accidents of all types have occurred in Granite City, down from 939 accidents during the same period last year.

These included 134 accidents in which 186 persons were injured, compared to 193 injury mishaps in which 266 persons were hurt during the five-months period a year ago.

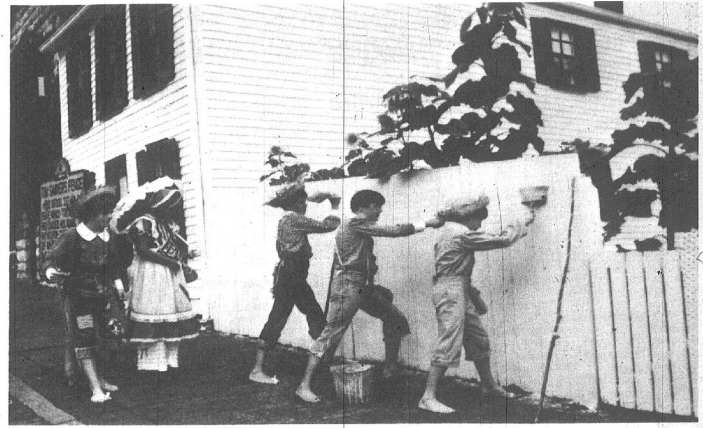

Parents Chapter announce events

The general meeting of Parents Without Partners, Granite City Chapter 470, will be held at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, June 25, at St. John United Church of Christ.

Guest speaker will be Paul Sodko of Madison County Federal Savings and Loan. His topic will be on "Ways to Invest Money."

Also planned is a family picnic on July 2 at Wilson Park, Shelter 5. Each family is to bring a covered dish. It was announced.

A house party is set for 7:30 p.m. on July 28 in the home of Evelyn Hileman. For more information relating to the programs of the chapter those interested are advised to call 877-0668.

FENCE PAINTING is a tradition in Hannibal, Mo., especially during National Tom Sawyer Days. Hannibal Jaycees are registering contestants for state and local fence painting.

competition to be held at 3 p.m. Thursday, July 3. National competition will take place on Sunday, July 6. Frog jumping is planned July 4 and raft racing July 5.

Children's YMCA Seniors meet craft class

A chance for out-of-school children and any out-of-ideas parents to learn something new this summer will begin June 30 at the Craft Shop at SIUE.

Just for the summer, a weekly variety session for children has been added to the regular schedule of craft workshops in ceramics, pencil drawing, stained glass, cartooning, painting, photography and macramé.

Classes meet two hours the same day each week for six weeks and are open to all ages with any or no skills, according to Ed Carly, coordinator. "You don't have to be an SIUE student to come and learn," he said, "but college students are welcome too."

Registration has opened. Fees are $15 to $25. For additional information and specific fees, interested persons may call the Craft Shop office at 692-2178.

GARAGE THEFT Leo Schermer, 43 Terrace Lane, reported last week the theft from his garage of a large gray tool box containing socket sets, wrenches and other tools valued at $200.

Fifty-six members attended the YMCA Senior Citizens Club meeting last week and heard plans for a "Country Hoedown," scheduled Tuesday, June 24, at the Granite City Township Center parking area.

Starting with a ham, beans and cornbread supper at 6:15 p.m., the hoedown will be followed with dancing to a country-western band at 7 p.m. The affair is open to all senior residents of Granite City.

Also discussed at the meeting was the showing of a movie, "The In-Laws," at 8:15 p.m. today at the township building.

Jaunita Crawley, president, conducted the business session and officers and chairmen gave reports. The Lord's Prayer and pledge to the flag were repeated in unison.

Honored on their birthday were Les Dunning, Minnie Kushnit, Reba Groves and Josie Stoyanoff.

Plans are progressing for the Senior Citizens Fair, set Sept. 19, at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, and YMCA club members agreed to sponsor a booth at the event.

Lon Andrew Smith marks 4th birthday

Lon Andrew Smith celebrated his fourth birthday at a party given by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Smith, 3131 Wayne Ave., last week.

A cowboy and Indian theme was used for the affair and the guests arrived in costume in keeping with the theme using war paint and Indian headbands. Streamers, balloons and a decorated cake centered the serving table.

Lawn games were directed by the hosts and prizes were awarded to all attending.

Those present included Benjamin Haldeman, Gina and Ryan Hankins, Karla Kamadulski, Jeanine McMillan, Scott Noni, Jeff and Adam Fasic, Gina Hays, Nathan Knezevich, David Sorenson, Barla, Mickey, Christopher Walker. Also Tammy and Chris Cupples, David Mathias, Chip, Matt, Martha and Andy Mitkos, the Rev. and Mrs. Les Mitkos, an uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Ron Haldeman, godparents, Mrs. Diane Walker, Mrs. Kathy Sorenson, Mrs. Sheila Fasic, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Smith, and Mr. and Mrs. Les Mitkos, grandparents, and Chris Smith an uncle.

ADDITIONAL DRIVE-IN FACILITIES have been put into operation at the Colonial Bank of Granite City, Pontoon and Maryville roads. The two lanes at left were added to the existing three to accommodate the growing clientele of the bank. The drive-in lane at far left is designed for vans, pick-up trucks and campers and features a raised vacuum-transfer mechanism for easy access. It is not under the canopy to accommodate taller vehicles.
